THE WEATHER

Rain.

The temperature yesterday did not break records, but the day was hot, nevertheless, and the heat was accompanied by unusually great humidity, making the weather the more uncomfortable. There was a marked change between 5 and 6 p. m., the thermometer dropping from 85 to 76, and a gentle rain setting in. With occasional stops this rain continued late into the night and the forecast for Western Pennsylvania for today is rain with cloudy conditions tomorrow. The sun rose cloudy at 4:47 yesterday and set cloudy at 7:34. The following report is furnished by the local office of the United States weather bureau:

CLOUDBURST AT EVERGREEN CAUSES TERROR AND DAMAGE, BUT BREAKS THE HEATED SPELL

Girty's Run Is Swollen 20 Feet in About as Many Minutes—Millvale and West View Suffer Severely.

MORE DEATHS FROM HEAT

To the whole community suffering from the intense heat relief came about 6 o'clock last evening with a steady rain. This rain proved in one section, however, a cloudburst of great violence. It was stated at the local weather office last evening that the worst of the heat wave is probably over. In its final day it added many names to the already long lists of dead and prostrated, as follows:

KILLED BY THE HEAT:

WILLIAM M'INTOSH, aged 55, St. Clair street, Swissvale, died at South Side hospital.

JOHN IGNOTZ or JOSEPH EVERY, laborer at Neville island furnace; died at McKees Rocks hospital.

ANTONIO LUDWISKI, aged 28, 1309 Breed street, South Side; overcome at Jones & Laughlin works; died at his home.

PROSTRATED BY THE HEAT.

FRANK M. STEWART, Edgar Thomson Steel works.

CITY CONTROLLER C. E. SOLES of McKeesport.

ROBERT QUINN, Irwin street, Hays borough.

ALBERT BURGESS, Baldwin street, Hays borough.

MIKE MADURA, Carrie furnace workman, Braddock.

MRS. A. M. KINCAID, McKeesport.

CHARLES HARRISON, Greenock.

PETER SCHICK, Nineteenth street, Homestead.

JOHN VARKLE, Pressed Steel car works, McKees Rocks.

A cloudburst in the region of Evergreen and West View early last evening gave the people of Millvale one of the worst scares of their lives and caused damage to property that will run up into the thousands. Girtys run, a narrow stream that drains the Evergreen valley for about 10 miles to the Allegheny river, became swollen into a raging torrent, rising fully 20 feet in less than 20 minutes and overflowing its banks to four or five times its normal size.

Passing through Millvale, Girtys run flooded two-thirds of the town, covering the main and side streets, carrying away buildings, bridges, entering houses and giving many a family a narrow escape. It was about 6 o'clock that the storm broke about four or five miles back of Millvale and half an hour later almost an avalanche of water entered into the town along the course of Girtys run.

This stream winds back and forth through Millvale like a snake and its numerous curves proved the salvation of many of its residents. The sharp curves gave the flood, following the bed of the run, chance to shoot over the banks in many places, spreading itself over a large area in the streets of the upper end of the town and diminishing the force of the water.

The water arrived in Millvale with a terrible rush and roar. The residents imagined for a while that a second Johnstown flood had come, and in their alarm many deserted their homes along Evergreen avenue and took to the hill-sides. Crossing Evergreen avenue at Franklin street, in upper Millvale, the flood carried away a bridge of the old Pittsburgh & Western railroad right of way, now maintained by a horse street car line.

Work of the Flood.

It swept away the abutments to the street bridge, wrecked and carried off a large workshop and stable belonging to John Kopf, a grocer, and undermined and badly damaged a large blacksmith and wagon repair shop belonging to Frederick Riley, on the opposite side of Evergreen avenue at Franklin street. At this point Girtys run makes a sharp curve across Evergreen avenue, follows close to the hillside for a block or two, recrosses Evergreen avenue, and then runs along North avenue, another main thoroughfare.

Kopf said he got his horse out of the stable as the building was lifted from its moorings. All the contents of the building were lost, even the stone foundation being destroyed. Where the run crosses the street under a bridge at North avenue and Klopfer street the stream had widened fully 200 feet and looked like a small river. Debris was piled up on the upper side of the bridge a story high. The water rose over the bridge and cut a deep hole in the sidewalk.

The water stood a couple of feet deep in North avenue, flooded all the yards, cellars and side streets. Evergreen avenue was flooded its entire length to North avenue, heavy timbers 50 feet long being deposited in the street after the flood had receded. Along Bauerlein street fully a dozen houses were flooded, and in Stanton avenue, near the Grant avenue bridge, at the lower end of the town. Two rows of frame houses, each containing half a dozen families, located in Stanton avenue on the bank of the run, were flooded in the basement which each family use as a kitchen.

Most of them were eating their evening meal and were forced to run upstairs to save their lives. In these houses, belong to what is known as the "mill row," the water rose to within a few inches of the first floor above the basement. Half a block below the water swept through a culvert under Grant avenue. This culvert became partly choked up with debris. The water stood two feet deep on the floor of the bridge for an hour.

Street car traffic was interrupted until about 10 o'clock, the Millvale cars being unable to enter the borough.

West View Suffers Severely.

The storm [illegible] West View and the country in that section was almost washed out by the heavy rainfall. Belle-mere, the lake north of the Butler plank road, which empties into Girtys run, overflowed and the noise made by the water going over the dam at the lower end of the lake caused considerable excitement.

The force of the rainfall mowed down cornfields and garden truck throughout the district, which is hilly and largely devoted to farming. In some places the farmers stated that their crops were almost ruined. The storm was accompanied by fierce lightning, and in many places trees were struck and large limbs ripped from them.

The men in charge of the boathouse at Bellemere had considerable difficulty in keeping the skiffs at their landings at first, as the storm broke over the district without warning. No damage was done to the skiffs or the boathouse. At a number of places the West View division of the traction line suffered, but workmen were sent out along the line early and by 10 o'clock they had most of

BANKS OF PHILADELPHIA VICTIMS OF A FORGER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—One of the most sensational cases of forgery that has ever been brought to light in financial circles of this city was disclosed today when it was announced that certificates calling for small numbers of shares of stock had been fraudulently raised to hundreds of shares, causing a loss to certain banks and trust companies of this city from $750,000 to $1,000,000.

The forgery involves the name of Benjamin H. Gaskill, who went to his grave four weeks ago. Gaskill was the sole member of the banking and brokerage concern known as Benjamin H. Gaskill & Co. At the time of his death he was believed to be worth half a million dollars. He left no will, and administrators began to close up his business. A patron of the firm, whose name is not given, bought from the estate 100 shares of Philadelphia Traction Company stock, and 100 shares of stock of the United States Steel Corporation. He turned his account over to E. C. Miller & Co., which firm sent the 100 shares of Traction stock to the Philadelphia Traction Company's office to have the transfer recorded.

Certificate Had Been Raised.

The certificate did not agree with the company's books, and an investigation showed it had been raised form six shares to 100. The discovery was reported to E. C. Miller & Co., who immediately notified the stock exchange, of which Gaskill was a member, which in turn sent out notices to its members not to receive stock certificates from the Gaskill estate.

A further investigation showed that Gaskill had credited himself on his own books with 6,000 shares of Philadelphia Traction stock, valued at approximately $600,000, while the Traction company's books showed he had only 400 shares. It was also discovered that he had raised stock certificates of the United Railways of New Jersey from two to 200, and the certificates of the Frankford and Southwark Street Railway Company of this city from two to 20. The latter stock is worth $450 a share.

Gaskill kept two accounts—one recording the transactions of his customers, which was correct, and another giving his own transactions. His books showed he was losing from $15,000 to $35,000 a year in his business.

Banks Hold Fraudulent Securities.

His method of operation was to obtain certificates of gilt-edged securities calling for one, two, three or some small number of shares, raise the figures and give them as securities for large loans. At least six banks and trust companies of this city admit holding fraudulent securities for large loans. Not one of the institutions will make public the amount of money it advanced, but a financier who has been making an investigation said tonight the amount of money loaned on the raised certificates will aggregate between $750,000 and $1,000,000. It is believed very little will be recovered from the estate.

Gaskill was about 61 years old when he died, and was a high liver. He was a member of the Manufacturers' and other clubs, and was well and favorably known. The administrators of the estate, Lincoln L. Eyre and George M. Wagner, have retained John G. Johnson to protect the interests of the estate. Gaskill left a widow, to whom the stock exchange a few days ago paid $5,000 as life insurance. His seat on the stock exchange is valued at $15,000.

CUTS OFF WHOLE DAY IN DELIVERY OF MAIL

New Fast Trains Will Greatly Expedite Postal Service in the West.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The expedition of the mails as the result of the operation of the new fast trains is announced in the following statement issued today by the postoffice department:

"The limited trains recently established between New York and Chicago on the Pennsylvania and the New York Central & Hudson River and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroads, which clip practically five hours from the running time between the two cities, have enabled the postoffice department to expedite very materially the dispatch and delivery of mail from points in New England, New York city, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore and Washington for Chicago and nearly all points in the west and southwest.

"Under the new arrangement commercial paper deposited in the postoffice at New York in time to catch the fast trains leaving at 3:30 and 4:00 p. m., is in Chicago the next morning in time to pass through the clearing house. Mails are delivered in St. Paul, Omaha and all points beyond, 12 hours in advance of their former arrival at those points. This means, where the arrival is in the morning, a gain of one business day.

"Naturally, the facilities on these fast trains are limited and the department is not attempting to expedite anything but letter mail. Pouches are made up for the larger offices in the east and by clerks working in the depots in New York, for Chicago and lines running out of Chicago and sent forward by the fast trains."

CROSS-TOWN TUNNEL TO RELIEVE SOUTH SIDE

New Route Will Extend from South Tenth Street Bridge to Forbes.

Announcement was made yesterday that a charter will be asked at once for "The Cross-Town Tunnel Company," to build a tunnel from the Pittsburgh end of the South Tenth street bridge to Forbes and Boyd streets. This is one block east of the Newsboys' home.

Charles A. Fagan of the law firm of Fagan & Magee appears at present as the principal interest in the matter. Mr. Fagan will not disclose those who are back of the project. The incorporators are: J. H. Milholland and Howard G. Evans, engineers, and Leo M. Dillon, a clerk.

The tunnel will be 1,550 feet long and is intended for street cars, wagons and pedestrians. Its main purpose is to bring the upper South Side into closer reach of the downtown section, eliminating the longer route over the South Twenty-second and the Smithfield street bridges which are always crowded during the business hours of the day.

It was stated that nothing could be said concerning the relations of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to the tunnel company.

The tunnel will cost about $300,000. It will be 80 feet wide and about 25 feet high. Its interior will be lined with white enameled brick and it will be lighted by electricity. It will be on a 2 per cent grade and will be practically straight.

HILL MUST FACE FORGERY CHARGE

M'NICHOL'S JOB ANNULLED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 20.

In his effort to compromise the Republican leaders, Mayor Weaver tonight caused a warrant to be issued for John W. Hill, ex-chief of the bureau of filtration. The action was taken late this evening.

The case was prepared by ex-Judge James G. Gordon, and the warrant was sworn to by Chief of Detectives James Donaghy. The charge in the warrant is forgery in approving warrants for the firm of D. J. McNichol & Co., in excess of the actual percentage of work done; also a violation of the specifications controlling said contracts. The substance of the warrant follows:

That John W. Hill, late of the city of Philadelphia, did, within five years last past and within the jurisdiction of the city and county of Philadelphia, commit the offense of forgery, to wit: He did make, sign, utter and publish an estimate or pretended estimate for work done for the city of Philadelphia by one Daniel J. McNichol, a contractor of the said city, or did fraudulently cause or procure such false estimate to be made, signed, uttered and published, which said estimate was so falsely made, signed, uttered and published to the prejudice of the right of the city of Philadelphia and with intent to defraud the said city of Philadelphia. * * * That the said John W. Hill did, within four years last past, * * * falsely make or concur in the making of a certain estimate for work done by one Daniel J. McNichol, a contractor having a contract for the doing of work and furnishing materials for the city of Philadelphia, which said estimate, so made and concurred in by the said John W. Hill, was a false estimate, entry and account and was made by the said John W. Hill wilfully and knowingly for the purpose of defrauding the said city of Philadelphia.

Saved Him Humiliation.

Former Chief Hill was ignorant of the existence of a warrant for his arrest until a few minutes before 6 o'clock, owing to the extreme precautions taken by Mayor Weaver and his advisers. Meanwhile, Hill's friends learned of the warrant and that Capt. Donaghy and a detective were preparing to serve it on Hill when he returned to his home in Overbrook. To avoid such a proceeding, Hill's friends visited his office, but he was not in and no one knew his whereabouts. Realizing they must act quickly if they wished to save their friend from the humiliation of arrest, one of the party called up Hill's home in Overbrook and

REMOVES HYDE AND ALEXANDER

Chairman Morton Accepts Resignations of Equitable's Two Officers.

HIS DECISION COMES QUICKLY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, June 20.

Paul Morton, the new head of the Equitable Life, removed today the two most prominent figures in the controversy within the society by accepting the resignations of James W. Alexander and James H. Hyde, as president and vice president of the company. Up to the time of this announcement, Mr. Morton had repeatedly declared his hands were tied until after the Hendricks report became public.

It was evident Mr. Morton had made up his mind very quickly, for when, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, he was asked if there were any developments in Equitable matters he said there was nothing he could say that would be interesting. At 5 o'clock he sent for the newspaper men to come to his office. He stood for a moment before them without speaking, and then, as if he had come to a sudden conclusion, he said:

"Gentlemen, all I have to say to you is that I have accepted the resignations of Mr. Alexander and Mr. Hyde."

"How about the other resignations you have in your hands?" he was asked.

"I have taken no action on those resignations."

Officials of the society tonight said Mr. Hyde and Mr. Alexander, although removed from their official positions, would remain members of the board of directors.

DEMOCRATS FAVOR STEWART.

Betterf of Curwensville, for county editors. John F. Short of Clearfield was unanimously chosen county chairman.

MINISTER OF LIBERAL VIEWS TO PREACH IN PITTSBURGH

Baltimore Clergyman Maintains Bar in Church Yard and Believes in Saloons Being Opened Certain Hours on Sunday.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, MD., June 20.—The Rev. Alfred F. Sierger, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church here, who is to preach a trial sermon at Smithfield street German Lutheran Evangelical church in Pittsburgh, is one of the most widely known German ministers in Baltimore. He is a prime favorite with his own congregation, but several times has aroused protests from the stricter element in other Evangelical churches here by his liberal views.

On one occasion he appeared before the Retail Liquor Dealers' association and made an address in which he not only took the stand that a man had a perfect right to drink in moderation, but advocated open saloons during certain hours of the Sabbath. A bar is constructed in the yard of his church at which beer can be had on some festive occasions. It has also been no uncommon sight to see the pastor preside for a time at the beer keg.

Pastor Sierger also attracted attention in December, 1903, when he wrote a moral lesson play, had it staged for the church and presented it on a Sunday night in the main edifice instead of the regular service. On another occasion he gave a pointed talk on the operations of the charity organization society work here, and said that people were allowed to starve while the society investigated. He said that the practical charity of immediate help for the suffering and investigation as to their character later was a thousand times better than the charity directed by a number of paid officials in easy chairs, and the distribution of tiny amounts of food and fuel when the sufferers were found worthy.

BOWEN SCORED BY PRESIDENT

Venezuelan Minister Dismissed from the Diplomatic Service.

EXONERATES LOOMIS

Assistant Secretary of State's Adversary Is Degraded by Mr. Roosevelt.

CONDUCT IS "REPREHENSIBLE"

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The dismissal of Herbert W. Bowen, for some years United States minister to Venezuela, and the exoneration of Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis of the allegations brought against him by Mr. Bowen, are the outcome of the Loomis-Bowen controversy.

This disposition of the case is made by President Roosevelt in a letter addressed to Secretary Taft, approving Mr. Taft's report on his findings and conclusions in the case. The president scathingly arraigns Minister Bowen, declaring that his conduct "is especially reprehensible," that Mr. Bowen asked one of his witnesses to enter the employ of a certain company for the purpose, "in plain words, of stealing" documents which he hoped might incriminate Mr. Loomis and that Mr. Bowen has "evidently for many months, indeed for the last two years, devoted himself" to hunting up scandal and gossip until it became a monomania and caused him "to show complete disloyalty" to the country he represented.

The president says he had hoped to promote Mr. Bowen, as during much of his service he had done good work, but that his usefulness in the diplomatic service is now at an end. The president adds that he would direct that Mr. Bowen's resignation be requested, but for his statement that he would consider a resignation an admission of misconduct, and the dismissal is therefore ordered.

Unfit for the Service.

The letter quotes correspondence and testimony. The president states that it appears that Mr. Bowen while minister secured the publication of attacks on Mr. Loomis and furnished to the press documents pending before the state department for approval and that his explanation is inexcusable and shows his "entire unfitness" for the service. Even if Mr. Loomis had been guilty, says the president, Mr. Bowen's conduct would be unpardonable.

The report of Secretary Taft on the case, on which the president's action is based, is a voluminous document, reviewing the charges and the evidence taken. In his report, Secretary Taft says that there was nothing dishonorable in the transactions in which Mr. Loomis figured, but that he was not discreet. The report says that Mr. Loomis was not justified in becoming personally interested in any of the schemes, either with a mere nominal interest or substantial interest. He holds, however, that Mr. Loomis has been "most cruelly slandered," commends him for the self-restraint with which he has met the charges and points out that Mr. Loomis' bitter experience in this case makes it unnecessary to point out the moral that a minister cannot afford in the country to which he is accredited, to make personal investments.

President Reviews Whole Affair.

The president's letter to Secretary Taft follows:

"To Secretary Taft:

"Sir: I have read your report of June 19 on the Bowen-Loomis matter. I agree with all your findings and conclusions regarding Mr. Loomis, and have nothing to add thereto.

"There remains to be considered the case as affecting Mr. Bowen, against whom Mr. Loomis has made counter-charges. Mr. Bowen has denied that he made 'charges' against Mr. Loomis. This is a mere matter of terminology. In his letter to Secretary Taft of April 2 beginning 'My Dear Bill,' and signed 'Herbert,' he writes:

"'As I understand that you are to be the head of the department of state during the absence of Mr. Hay, I feel that I ought to see that you are fully informed as to the terrible scandal in the situation here. Consequently I enclose herewith copies of papers, which have been in Mr. Hay's hands, and which will furnish you with the facts that I think you should know.'

"Then follow certain cablegrams including a report that Mr. Loomis was paid a check and that the custodian of the Bermudez Lake had in his possession this check and also a letter promising that the United States would not intervene, and that the president of Venezuela felt safe because of these facts; a copy of a letter to Mr. Hay, of February 18, 1905, in which Mr. Bowen distinctly states his belief that this alleged, and as it turns out, wholly fictitious, check, and wholly fictitious letter, were in the hands of President Castro, who, because he had them, undoubtedly had not feared to refuse arbitration with the United States.

Many Statements Denied.

"He then furnishes documents, which he says were found by him in the legation office a year ago and were sent by him to Mr. Hay, together with many other documents, and Mr. Bowen states that Mr. Hay intimated in return that he had performed his whole duty by sending these documents to him. Mr. Bowen makes certain comments on the documents as follows: 'To Mr. Russell, now minister to Colombia, through the influence of Mr. Loomis' (which statement, incidentally, is untrue), Mr. Bowen again says, Mr. Loomis collected the Mercado claim from the Venezuelan government, got a share of it for a small sum and never reported the case to the department of state,' and again he says, 'He dealt with Buchanan, whom Loomis subsequently got appointed minister to Panama (which is again an untruth, Mr. Loomis had nothing whatever to do with the appointment of either Mr. Buchanan or Mr. Russell).

"In Mr. Bowen's statement, dated at

VENEZUELAN MINISTER DISMISSED BY PRESIDENT; LOOMIS EXONERATED

East Orange May 10, he says: 'I have never preferred charges against Mr. Loomis'; yet three lines further down he says that to his mind it has been proved conclusively that Mr. Loomis is a 'dishonest official' and a few lines further down says that he had not 'preferred charges against Mr. Loomis' and 'that none were needed. The documents themselves were charges, evidence and proof.'

Reflected on Mr. Hay.

The documents, Mr. Bowen explains, were submitted to Mr. Hay in the spring of 1904, and that a year had passed without further action by Mr. Hay (which, by implication at least, looks as if Mr. Bowen were accusing Mr. Hay also of misconduct). In this same communication of May 10 Mr. Bowen goes on to say: "that I was justified in so doing (that is, in securing the publication of the attack on Mr. Loomis) I have but to show how Mr. Loomis abrogated the agreement that President Roosevelt and Mr. Hay authorized me to make with the Venezuelan government; how he thus ruined our whole case; and how he seemed likely to bring still further disgrace on our government."

Mr. Bowen then goes on to state that, after he had received by cable, January 10, from Mr. Hay, one telegram of which he approved, "a protocol arrived by cable from Mr. Loomis' and that this protocol, as he calls it, and of which he complains, he answered by a telegram to Mr. Hay. He adds, "I was, of course, even more astounded than the Venezuelan government that Mr. Loomis should thus destroy my work and influence and override the decision of President Roosevelt and Mr. Hay, and derogate from our prestige as a strong and straight nation," and he ends his letter by the following statement: "If the newspaper representatives were influenced by me I was justified in trying to influence them, because Mr. Loomis was dishonest while minister to Caracas, and as assistant secretary of state was guilty of abrogating the agreements President Roosevelt and Mr. Hay had authorized me to make with the Venezuelan government, because he deceived, and seemed likely to continue to deceive, the government, and people of the United States."

Statement Absolutely Untrue.

It is disingenuous for Mr. Bowen repeatedly to use his language and at the same time to insist that he has made "no charges" against Mr. Loomis. Moreover, it is quite impossible that Mr. Bowen can believe that the telegram signed by Mr. Loomis, as acting secretary of state, which he calls a protocol, really proves that Mr. Loomis "was guilty of abrogating the agreements President Roosevelt and Mr. Hay had authorized me to make with the Venezuelan government." Mr. Bowen's statement is shown to be absolutely untrue by the statement of the solicitor of the department of state, Mr. Penfield. But his own statement bears within itself its own refutation on this point. He shows in this statement that he at once answered this cable of Mr. Loomis by a cable to Mr. Hay, who would thus have had his attention specifically called to the Loomis "protocol" even if he had not known of it before, and even if he had been so neglectful of his duty as not to inquire what cables had been sent in the matter with which he was dealing.

As a matter of fact, the Loomis cable in question was sent by direction of Mr. Hay with the assistance of Mr. Penfield and was signed by Mr. Loomis, simply because on the day that it was sent it happened that Mr. Hay was confined to his house and could not get down to the state department. It is on its face an absurdity to suppose that Mr. Hay, who returned to his duties in the state department, within a day or two, and who was repeatedly going over this whole Venezuelan matter and cabling to Bowen about it and receiving cables from him in return, could have been ignorant if such a cable had been sent by Loomis during his (Mr. Hay's) absence. Mr. Bowen's allegation on this point is in reality a charge against Mr. Hay rather than against Mr. Loomis.

Mr. Bowen furnished his charges against Mr. Loomis, and some of the documents in reference thereto, to representatives of a New York newspaper. Mr. Bowen himself admits that he showed these letters and made these statements to the representatives of the newspapers in question. I have already quoted his remark in his statement of May 20, "If the newspaper representatives were influenced by me I was justified in trying to influence them, because Mr. Loomis was dishonest while Manister at Caracas."

In the same statement he says that Mr. Loomis' friends asserted "that I instigated the publication of the scandal with which his name is associated. That charge may be true. Whether it is or not the newspaper correspondents who were in Caracas alone know. * * * As the scandal was generally known throughout the whole community, I talked with them about it. * * * I certainly never attempted to keep them silent. On the contrary, I urged them to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

In his letter to me on June 8, he says: "I had several private interviews with both Mr. Dater and Mr. Biddle, in regard to information which they were sending to the Herald. * * * In order to make my side of the case perfectly clear I explained to them confidentially how Mr. Loomis' work in Caracas and the influence to which he must consequently bend balked me in my work. * * * I felt that I could safely trust them. In all governmental and diplomatic circles it is customary to trust and use the press. In no other way can information be got before the public that that the public should possess. What I wanted our people to know was not the Loomis scandal alone, but the whole situation in Venezuela. * * * I did not believe for a moment that either Mr. Dater or Mr. Biddle would quote me, or attempt to reproduce from memory any paper I showed to them; and I supposed, of course, that they would present the whole case to our people and not merely the Loomis scandal."

Unfit for a Diplomat.

"In fact they assured me that the interviews would be regarded by them as entirely confidential. * * * If my name is associated with the scandal it is only because there was a breach of faith somewhere."

Again in his letter of June 14 he says: "I talked with the Herald men because they said they would not betray my confidence. They did betray me, and one of them even tried to produce from memory the Mercado claim, which I showed to him confidentially."

In short, it appears from Mr. Bowen's own statement, as well as from the statement of Messrs. Dater and Biddle, and the letter from Mr. Wright, that Mr. Bowen, while minister at Caracas instigated and requested and actually secured the publication of attacks on the assistant secretary of state and furnished to the press copies of documents believed to reflect upon the assistant secretary of state, which documents were already before the secretary of state for investigation. Mr. Bowen's excuse for this conduct, so far as it can be made out, seems to be that he expected the newspaper men to keep his connections with the charges secret. In other words, he apparently regards his case as improved that he secured this attack upon his official chief in an underhand manner and that he did not intend that his connection with the attack should be divulged.

Of course such conduct is inexcusable and shows Mr. Bowen's entire unfitness to remain in the diplomatic service, without regard to whether the charges he has made against Mr. Loomis are true or false. Even if Mr. Loomis had been guilty, Mr. Bowen's conduct would be unpardonable. Inasmuch as Secretary Taft's careful investigation of the charges shows them to be false, his attitude appears in an even worse light. But it must be kept in mind that his unfitness for the service is clearly established by his own conduct without any reference to the question of Mr. Loomis' actions. The department of state had explicitly forbidden just such conduct in a general circular issued over three years ago.

It appears from the testimony that Caracas is seething with scandal and that all kinds of accusations are rife, not merely against Mr. Loomis and Mr. Bowen, but against practically every other diplomatic representative now residing, or who has recently resided there. There is no excuse whatever for repeating the injurious and malicious gossip circulated about these various men. Mr. Bowen himself, however, has not only furnished and brought forward a great deal of such gossip about Mr. Loomis, but has evidently been one of the main sources from which it originated. He tried to tamper with the cable operator, through our consulate at La Guira, Mr. Goldschmidt, in order to secure what he hoped would be incriminating telegrams against Mr. Loomis.

Shamed by Cable Operator.

Mr. Goldschmidt's reply was: "It would be dishonorable to do what you ask me." Mr. Goldschmidt, in his letter of May 3, 1905, says: "Mr. Bowen never lost an opportunity to belittle Mr. Loomis' character, ability, etc., when he spoke to me of him, and seemed to bear an extraordinary animus against his predecessor."

Mr. Bowen asked one of the men he himself produced as a witness, Senor Pastor, to enter into the employ of a certain company for the purpose of obtaining (in plain words, of stealing) documents which he hoped might incriminate Mr. Loomis. He has evidently for many months, indeed for the last two years, devoted himself to hunting up every piece of scandal or gossip of which he heard, affecting Mr. Loomis, until it has seemingly become a monomania with him, and has caused him to show complete disloyalty to the service to which he belongs, and therefore to the country which he has represented. It was his duty to make known to his superior officers any facts reflecting on the honesty of Mr. Loomis or any other official; but it was a breach of his duty to make loose and reckless charges, and especially to give these charges public currency after their submission for investigation by the department.

Mr. Bowen's conduct is especially reprehensible, because of the damage it has undoubtedly done to the interest of this country. We hold a peculiar position toward our sister republics lying south of us. In all our dealings with these republics we should endeavor not merely to act courteously, justly and generously, but to make it evident that we are thus acting. Any corrupt dealing, any misconduct, by one of our representatives to these countries, call for the sternest punishment; and, save only corrupt dealings, the worst and most flagrant misconduct of which one of these representatives can be guilty is to give currency to, or encourage the publication of scandalous attacks upon the character of which he is a member, or upon one of his superiors, a responsible head of that service; for such attacks are certain to be circulated to the discredit of our government and our people, not only in the newspapers of our own country, but in the newspapers of the various Latin-American republics. No matter how baseless they are, no matter how complete the refutation of the charges, they do a damage that cannot be wholly repaired.

Mr. Bowen has been a long time in the consular and diplomatic service, during much of that time he has done good work, and until recently I had hoped to promote him; if I could continue his misconduct in this case I would gladly do so; but his usefulness in the diplomatic service is at an end. I do not desire to punish him; save for the great risk to the service which would be involved in his retention, I would be willing to let his conduct go unpunished save by a severe admonition; but I feel that it is impossible to retain him, without exposing the interests of the government to a repetition of such risk that it cannot justifiably be incurred.

Accordingly I would direct that his resignation be requested. Were it not for the statement made on his behalf in your presence and mine today that he would consider a resignation an admission of misconduct, accordingly I direct that he be dismissed from the service.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Mr. Loomis Indiscreet.

The letter of Secretary Taft to the president, reporting on his inquiry into the case says that the evidence shows that the only transaction which Mr. Loomis ever had with the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company was a mere transfer of funds from Caracas to New York, in which Mr. Loomis was indiscreet in becoming personally interested in the Mercado claim. In another transaction, in which President Castro regarded Mr. Loomis as acting on behalf of an American syndicate, Mr. Taft says that Mr. Loomis was "certainly treading on dangerous ground in bringing his official life so close to a transaction in which he must have expected to have a great personal interest." After exonerating Mr. Loomis of other charges, Secretary Taft says:

These transactions of Mr. Loomis show what seems to me is apparent that he was not discreet in withholding personal participation in enterprises in furthering which he might find his position as minister useful. Caracas is full of concession holders and concession hunters. The gossip of the town is full of charges of corruption against every diplomatic representative. Under these circumstances, it seems to me that it was the business of the minister of the United States to keep his skirts especially clear of personal participation in any business which might bring him into contact with the government.

Mr. Loomis says that he was intensely interested as American minister in encouraging investment of American capital in Venezuela with a view to assisting both countries and bringing them together; that this was known to many in Caracas and attracted to him all kinds of propositions, that for his efforts to further American business interests he received the thanks of an association of American merchants. While this was all doubtless true, it did not justify Mr. Loomis in becoming personally interested in any of the schemes, either with a mere nominal interest, because that would mislead others, or with a substantial interest, because it would surely in the end make his public duty and private interests conflict.

No one can read this evidence without being convinced that Mr. Loomis has been most cruelly slandered in the charges against his integrity and sincerity as a public official and as a man, but in the very great satisfaction that we find in his complete exculpation from all charges of dishonesty, we cannot be blind to the fact that his failure to hold himself utterly aloof from any personal participation in plans for investments and exploitation of the country to which he was accredited, and from allowing himself to take personal interests in transactions in which he or his legation might also have to act as in a trust capacity, have possibly lent color to the aspersions upon his character which his enemies have been only too willing to make and support.

I cannot close without commending the dignity and self-restraint with which Mr. Loomis has met the charges which have been made against him; charges made, I am sorry to say, with recklessness and spitfet likely to have provoked from one of less self-control counter-insult and attack. I cannot say because I do not think that the record of Mr. Loomis while in Venezuela, as shown in this record, is such as to disqualify him from service as minister in the diplomatic service of the United States, but I sincerely hope that his bitter experience in this case makes it unnecessary further to point the moral that one who occupies the position of minister of the United States cannot afford, in any country to which he is accredited in which business enterprises must be made or lost be affected by government favor and concession, to make personal investments of any sort or to leave the slightest doubt as to the absence of all personal interest in any matters which he may bring before the government to which he is accredited.

President's Parting Words For Mr. Bowen

His conduct against Mr. Loomis in Venezuela is especially reprehensible.

He asked a witness to steal documents which might incriminate Mr. Loomis.

For the last two years he devoted himself to hunting up scandal and gossip in Venezuela, until it became a monomania with him.

He showed complete disloyalty to the country he represented.

I had hoped to promote Mr. Bowen, but now his diplomatic usefulness is at an end.

While minister he secured the publication of attacks on Mr. Loomis.

Even if Mr. Loomis had been guilty, Mr. Bowen's conduct would be unpardonable.

His dismissal from the diplomatic service of the United States is therefore ordered.

CLOUDBURST AT EVERGREEN

the earth which had been washed down on the tracks cleared away.

Torrents in the Sheets.

The Butler plank road at the end of the West View car line at Bellevue avenue, West View, which is about 100 yards apart, looked like small rivers during the storm. The streets on the hill in West View are paved with asphalt, and the water from the hillsides flowed into the paved streets and rushed down the unpaved streets, which run at right angles.

At the foot of Bellevue avenue the greatest damage was done, as the water carried earth and rocks down to the car tracks. When the rain stopped the tracks and the floor of the waiting room at the foot of the avenue were buried under about two feet of earth. A sewer about a quarter of a mile from the waiting room also overflowed, and deposited much mud on the tracks. The cars were not interrupted, however, as workmen cleared the tracks before cleaning up the mud at the end of the line.

Ashford avenue, which is also unpaved, was damaged by the rush of the water, but as the street slopes away from the car line the earth loosened by the storm did not suffer much.

An electric converter in Cemetery lane was struck by lightning during the storm and for about an hour the lights in that district were out. The converter was a new one and had been erected only last Saturday, the old one having been struck and ruined during the storm last Friday night.

Overcome in a Hotel.

William McIntosh, aged about 55, who lived with his brother-in-law, E. R. W. Ruhe, St. Clair street, Swissvale, was overcome by heat while sitting in the Hotel Staryuski, at Carson and South Fourteenth streets, last night. He was taken to the South Side hospital, where he died at 9:25.

John Ignetz, known also as Joseph Every, died at the McKees Rocks hospital from heat prostration. He had been overcome at the American Steel and Wire Company's mill, where he was employed. He was 33 years old and lived at Fleming Park, Stowe township.

Antonio Ludowiski, aged 25, of 1309 Breed street, South Side, was overcome by heat while working in Jones & Laughlin's mills and died at 7:30 p. m. yesterday. He returned from work at 3:30 p. m. and said he was feeling badly. Ludowiski had been in this country but three weeks and worked only five days at Jones & Laughlin's.

The continuation of the heated term has led to the adoption of measures at the Homestead steel works to keep prostrations in the big works at a minimum. Rest crews have been installed and men who work in particularly hot places are given held so that they can rest. Men are sent home as soon as they show indications of being affected and the mill surgeons are watching the conditions closely. Only one prostration occurred yesterday, Frank M. Stewart, an employe of the open hearth mill No. 3, was overcome and taken to his home at 149 Fourth avenue.

Fainted in the Street.

At Hays borough, Robert Quinn of Irwin felt a heat attack coming on while he was at work at the Pennsylvania station. He started for home, but fainted in the street. He will recover.

Albert Burgess of Hays, a miner, was overcome while working in the Hays coal works, and is in a serious condition at his home in Baldwin street.

Mike Madura, a Slav, aged 35, was found early yesterday morning in an alley near Eleventh street, Braddock, in a serious condition from the effects of the heat. Madura had worked Monday at the Carrie furnaces at Rankin, and it is thought he became exhausted on his way home. He was removed to his home in River avenue, and is not expected to recover.

Three more heat prostrations and one death from heat were reported in McKeesport yesterday. City Controller C. E. Soles dropped over while eating lunch in a restaurant. Mrs. A. M. Kincaid, aged 82, was prostrated with the heat. Mrs. Mary Ward of Market street was overcome, but soon recovered. Charles Harrison of Greenock was overcome by heat and fell from a bicycle.

An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Brown of Railroad street, Dravosburg, died yesterday from the excesive heat.

Peter Schick, aged 50, of Nineteenth avenue, Homestead, while temporarily insane from the intense heat yesterday afternoon, wandered down to the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad and was struck by a freight train and painfully cut and bruised. Schick, who is one of the pioneer steel workers in the Monongahela valley, had been ill for several weeks and yesterday he became delirious from the heat. He was taken to the West Penn hospital and it is feared he cannot recover.

WAR FACTIONS PRESS EMPEROR

Diplomatic Measures for Peace Go Forward in the Face of Steady Pressure.

LINEVITCH WANTS TO FIGHT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 21.—Diplomatic measures for the peace conference are continuing in the face of the steady pressure brought to bear by the militant factions. Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch has again wired the emperor saying that victory is almost at hand, and begging that he and his army be not deprived of the opportunity to restore the prestige of Russian arms.

Minister of War Oakahoff had an audience yesterday with the emperor at Petershof, and it is said he presented to his majesty measures for another mobilization of troops and urged the advisability of their adoption.

Gen. Linevitch's telegram seems to confirm the indications that negotiations for an armistice are not proceeding between the Russian and Japanese commanders.

Grand Duke Alexis, who is going abroad soon, and Vice Admiral Chouknin, commander of the Black sea squadron, who, it is thought, will be chosen to succeed Admiral Avellan as head of the admiralty department, also were seen by the emperor at Petershof yesterday. Admiral Chouknin reported on the condition of the Black sea fleet and also offered suggestions for the naval program which is under consideration.

It is said the emperor is contemplating the appointment of a commission headed by Vice Admiral Birileff to formulate a program in the light of the lessons taught by Russian naval development in the past quarter of a century, and of the experience of other nations. Admiral Birileff is eminently qualified to head such a commission, as he probably is the best expert in naval construction in the Russian service.

Russia finds no objection to August 1 as suggested by Japan for the date of the meeting of the plenipotentiaries, and instructions will be sent to Ambassador Cassini to accept it.

LONDON, June 21.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Tokyo sends the following:

"The Japanese are continuing their victorious advances in Manchuria. The Russians have been completely outflanked on both wings, and news of Japanese victories may be expected. The Japanese have considerably over half a million in the field. Their preliminary operations began as far back as May 20.

"Two significant announcements have been made—the first, that the Japanese consul general has informed the viceroy of Liangkiang that Admiral Urius' squadron intends to cruise in the Yangtse river and the second, that the British squadron at Hongkong will proceed to Wei-Hai-Wei and begin gun practice off Shantung province on June 28.

To Participate in Turnfest.

The members of the classes representing the Braddock turnverein will leave today for Indianapolis to take part in the national turnfest. About 150 members of the Braddock society will accompany them. Frederick Simmons has brought the classes to a high state of proficiency. The members who will compete are John Whitsell, Leo Hertzog, Bernard Jegerman, William Bechtel, Wentzel Boehm, Daniel Weber, Carl Becker, Joseph Boehm and William Haas.

Jury Has Crawford Case.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The case of William G. Crawford, accused of conspiring with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz to defraud the United States in connection with a contract for supplying the postoffice department with letter carriers' satchels and straps was given to the jury this afternoon. It had not been able to agree upon a verdict at 8:30 o'clock this evening, and was then locked up for the night.

TO FACE FORGERY CHARGE

instructed Mrs. Hill to use every effort to find her husband by telephone and tell him to go to Magistrate Eisenbrown's office.

Although ignorant of the nature of the business, Mrs. Hill tried in vain to find her husband. Several hours later Hill was about to enter his office in the Fidelity building when a friend rushed up and communicated to him the unpleasant news concerning the warrant. Turning on his heel, Hill boarded a car for the office of Stuart Wood at Fourth and Chestnut streets.

Wood Comes to Rescue.

Wood and Hill have been friends for more than 20 years. When they met Hill hurriedly explained his plight. Wood volunteered to furnish security for the former official in any amount, and the two went to the office of Magistrate Eisenbrown, where Hill was shown the warrant for his arrest. He announced he was prepared to give bond for his appearance at the hearing tomorrow morning, and his bail was fixed at $10,000 with Wood as his surety. A singular phase of the proceedings in that Stuart Wood is a member of the committee of 70, which is trying to destroy the Republican organization in this city.

The arrest of Hill caused a tremendous sensation, for it is regarded merely as preliminary to larger developments. Everyone knows the Weaver-Wanamaker syndicate is after Durham and McNichol. An effort will be made to have Hill give testimony which will warrant their arrest. This, the syndicate announces, will follow the Hill hearing tomorrow.

Hill was the city's highest paid official. His salary of $5,000 a year, increased only a few weeks ago from $12,000 on the recommendation of Mayor Weaver, was $2,000 in excess of that of the sheriff, the next highest paid, just as the sheriff's salary is $2,000 in excess of the mayor's.

Hill's Heavy Fall.

Mr. Hill came to Philadelphia from his native city, Cincinnati, in 1900 upon the request of Mayor Ashbridge to take charge of the construction of the filtered water system. He came as an engineer with the highest qualifications and was referred to by Mayor Ashbridge as "an engineer of unquestioned ability and experience" and one "whose services will be of incalculable aid in establishing the filtration plants." Since that time he has been in complete charge of the work. Associated with him was his son, Henry W. Hill, whose salary was $3,000 a year.

Chief Hill was president of the commission which prepared the plans for the improvement of the Cincinnati water supply. He has also been employed as consulting engineer of water supply projects for 50 or more municipalities. At present he is a member of the commission which is preparing plans for a filtered water supply for Pittsburgh. The Philadelphia filtration system was regarded as his great life work and he is believed to have considered it as a means of establishing his highest reputation as an engineer.

Mayor Weaver today revoked the $700,000 sand contract of D. J. McNichol & Co. for the Torresdale filtration plant and ordered advertisements to be made immediately for new bids for the work and materials remaining to be done and supplied. So far the system has cost the city upward of $22,000,000 and it is estimated that it will cost about $5,000,000 more to complete the work. Mayor Weaver said tonight he issued the order rescinding the contract because he felt that the city would not be safeguarded unless he did it.

The Broad street boulevard, which is being constructed by a firm composed of State Senator G. A. Vare and Recorder of Deeds William Vare and which will cost about $5,000,000, is now under investigation.

Assessor Joseph Donnelly today pleaded guilty of registering fraudulent voters. He was fined $500 and sentenced to three months in the county jail.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

OLD COMMANDER IS UNANIMOUSLY CHOSEN

Company L, Eighteenth regiment, last night unanimously re-elected Capt. Marshal Henderson to the captaincy of the company. Capt. Henderson had resigned his commission as a result of the Eighteenth's entertaining the officers of the Third regiment on the same night that Company L held a ball. Bitter feeling was aroused by this action and many of the members of Company G said they would not attend the brigade encampment at Erie unless Capt. Henderson was in command. Corporal Harry Purcell of Company I was unanimously elected first lieutenant of that company.

P. R. R. AND INTERBOROUGH COMPANY FORM ALLIANCE

NEW YORK, June 20.—August Belmont, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, today authorized the statement that an agreement had been signed by himself as president of the Interborough company and Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island Railroad Company, by which the two interests became the joint owners of all the traction lines on Long Island outside the Brooklyn Rapid Transit properties, and establishing an important alliance between the Interborough and Pennsylvania Railroad companies.

BUYS MAGEE SITE FOR HIGH SCHOOL

SECOND TIME DEAL IS MADE

The central board of education last night selected the homestead of former Judge Christopher Magee in Forbes street, near the Junction railroad, as the site for the new Pittsburgh high school. It was the second time the deal for the property had been proposed, the first effort to secure the property having fallen through because councils did not appropriate money sufficient to complete the purchase. There were 24 votes for the Magee property and 14 scattered among five other sites.

It was a comparatively harmonious meeting. At one juncture John D. Sweeney counseled less haste and declared that there was "a nigger in the wood pile," but the night was too hot for anything but harmony, and the opposition was contented to follow the majority without provoking any undue strenuosity. A resolution to appoint a building committee was passed and another resolution to elect an architect would have passed, had President D. L. Gillaspie not ruled it out of order.

The Magee site was offered for $300,000 and the Singer-Mashey site at $295,000. Secretary Charles Reisfar read a new offer of the Rafferty property, fronting 420 feet in Fifth avenue and extending 220 feet to Kentucky avenue, for $175,0000. The members voted as follows:

How the Members Voted.

Magee site—Messrs. Bodkin, Clark, Fox, Jamison, Kenna, Kirby, Klein, Longeay, McCutcheon, McDowell, McEwan, McGavey, McTighe, Minsinger, O'Toole, Reilecke, Schwarzwalder, Sellers, Sheehan, Sirelh, E. Smith, Tansey, Yellig and Ziefel. Singer-Mashey—Messrs. Bradley, McIlroy, McMillan, John D. Sweeney and Whitmore. Friendship—Messrs. Cameron, Easton, Gosser, McKinsey and Shaw. Riding academy—Messrs. Foley and McKelvey. Lloyd—Mr. Roth. Loughrey—Mr. McKain. Hamilton—President Gillespie.

Before the vote was announced John D. Sweeney changed to the Magee; Messrs. Easton, McIlroy, McKelvey and McKane and President Gillespie changed to Lloyd; and Mr. Gosser to Loughrey. This made the tally, Magee 24, Lloyd 6, Friendship 3, Singer and Mashey 2, Loughrey 1.

President Gillespie declared the Magee site selected. John O'Toole offered a resolution to the effect that a warrant in favor of the Hon. Christopher Magee be drawn for $5,000 for the first payment of the site purchased from him this day, subject to the solicitor's report on the title and that $5,000 be transferred from the books and supplies account to meet this payment. This was carried by a vote of 34 ayes to 2 noes. Messrs McKane and McKelvey voted no and Mr. Foley refused to vote.

Sweeney Enter a Protest.

John F. McTighe offered a resolution directing the president to appoint a building committee of seven to confer with an architect, to be selected by the board, to prepare preliminary plans and submit them to the board for approval.

Mr. Jamison offered a resolution providing that the board go into an election for an architect to work with the building committee in preparing plans and that the compensation should be the usual fees paid to architects. John D. Sweeney said: "This is too hasty. Before we secure a site, before we know the title is good, before we know we have property to build on, it is proposed to put the board to expense. I don't say but some architects make work cost, but I will say that as a body of men professing to have some consideration for the taxpayer we should take time. It looks like a nigger in the woodpile to force this election of an architect before we get the property."

President Gillespie read sections of the rules relating to the subject and ruled against the motion.

Sharp Debate Over Architect.

The matter of electing an architect provoked a sharp debate. Mr. Easton asked: "Has the board more interest in some architect than it has in the taxpayer?" President Gillespie stated that if action were taken to elect an architect he would not appoint the building committee until the solicitor would pronounce the action legal.

Before taking up the high school matter the board gave a contract for fumigating the three high school buildings to E. C. Chamberlain for $2,050.

The board voted a 10 per cent increase of pay to the superintendents, engineers, firemen and watchmen of the Fifth avenue and South Side High schools.

GOOD RESULTS ALREADY.

Life Guard at Lock No. 1 Saves Boy from Drowning.

Policeman Patrick Manion, who is stationed at lock No. 1 as a life guard for bathers, yesterday saved Thomas Richey, aged 17, of Bluff street, from drowning. Richey is a good swimmer and went to the middle of the river. Manion noticed the boy a considerable distance from the bank and rowed out to him.

Richey was about exhausted when the officer reached him. The boy had been seized with cramps and was barely able to hold on to the stern of the boat while the officer pulled him ashore. The officer said 600 men and boys bathed at lock No. 1 yesterday.

THORNTON MAY RETURN TO ALLEGHENY POLICE FORCE

Former Captain Is Said to Be Slated for the Position Vacated by Wilson.

After an absence of over two years from the Allegheny police force, it is said that James Thornton, who for many years held the position of captain in the bureau of police, is to return to his old position to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Capt. James Wilson. Capt. Thornton since his retirement has been conducting the Hotel Federal in Allegheny, and last night the place was closed pending a transfer of the license to his sons. Capt. Thornton and Mayor James G. Wyman were fast friends, but after Wyman's election they fell out. Their differences were patched up about a year ago. It is also rumored that Melvin H. Campbell, who was suspended as superintendent of the police bureau after being convicted of grafting, will shortly resign. John McAuley, secretary to Director of Public Safety Scandrett, is slated for Campbell's position.

Lieut. John Bopp of the Fourth district, who is a candidate for the position of captain of police, has been transferred, with several of his officers, to the Woods Run district, and Policeman Michael Kelsch has been appointed lieutenant temporarily. Kelsch will probably be made lieutenant.

LIGHTNING STRIKES OIL TANK.

Prompt Work of Employes and Firemen Save Probable Conflagration.

A tank containing 7,000 barrels of oil near Fifty-seventh street and the Allegheny river was struck by lightning at 6 o'clock last evening setting the oil on fire. The top was blown off the tank 25 feet into the air. One of the employes of the Standard Oil Company turned a stream of water into the tank, saving it from exploding. Wet bagging was put over the top of the tank and the flames smothered. Three pumps were quickly started and the oil pumped into several other tanks.

Near the tank that was struck by the lightning was a benzine tank containing 5,000 barrels. Through the efforts of the firemen and employes the flames from the burning tank were kept from communicating with the benzine tank.

PROBABLY ADOPT MAGEE RULES

He Will Change Them to Conform With Suggestions Made by The Gazette.

OPINION OF COL. S. H. CHURCH

W. A. Magee, Jr., said yesterday he would change his rules to make them conform to the suggestion made by The Gazette. There will also be some other alterations. He is satisfied the Republican county committee will on Saturday show that it favors the new party laws.

There are indications that there will not be a great deal of opposition to the Magee rules at the meeting Saturday. They will be presented then, but must lie over for 10 days before they can be adopted. There will be an opportunity for a full discussion Saturday, and many strong men will advocate the abolishment of the delegate system.

Mr. Magee will change his rules to provide for a modified form of the Crawford county system, as suggested by The Gazette. Under this plan the vote cast for president is credited to the candidates in proportion to the vote they poll at the primaries. This makes the system a fair one.

Col. S. H. Church, the historian of the "Life of Oliver Cromwell," and a member of the Republican county committee, has this to say of the proposed changes in the rules:

"I don't know that I am specifically in favor of the Crawford county system of direct voting for candidates, because I am not very familiar with the practical operations of that system. If it gives us better men and better guarantees than the present primary system, then we ought to have it. I am a great believer that the world is growing better all the time, and that our country is destined to a splendid future, unequaled in the history of nations. Still there is a source of danger that may in time destroy the republic. That danger is public graft. In all the great cities we have had these exposures of politicians controlling legislation for extravagant expenditures in which they themselves are the secret partners."

HENRY M. BRACKENRIDGE ON WATER COMMISSION

Governor Appoints Well-Known Allegheny County Man to a State Position.

Henry M. Brackenridge has been appointed a member of the state water supply commission. The announcement of his selection was made yesterday by Gov. S. W. Pennypacker. The other commissioners are John F. Whitworth of Kittanning, John Birkinbine of Montgomery county, Health Commissioner Dixon and Forestry Commissioner Conklin.

Mr. Brackenridge lives at Brackenridge, this county, where he is interested in glass, steel and other industries. For a number of years he has been active in Republican politics. His candidacy for water commissioner was indorsed by the Republican county organization.

Mr. Whitworth is at present corporation clerk of the state department. He will probably resign this position. He has practiced law in Armstrong county for a number of years. Under the law creating the commission, the governor appoints three commissioners, who serve in connection with the health and forestry commissioners. The governor's appointees receive a salary of $3,000 a year. The commission has supervision over the state water supply and the issuing of charters to water companies. The commission names an engineer at $2,500 a year and a clerk at $1,200.

INDEPENDENT WAGES UP.

Conference of Amalgamated With Small Sheet and Tin Mills Opens Today.

The annual wage conference between the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the independent sheet steel and tin plate manufacturers will open this morning at the Hotel Lincoln. The balance of the week will probably be required to consider the matter. The union will ask for an 18 per cent advance in wages for the sheet workers and 22 per cent for the tin plate workers.

There remain 10 days for the settlement of the scale between the Amalgamated and the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company. There is no talk of serious difficulty on either side.

PILING UP THE CHARGES AGAINST HARRY GRACEY

Harry Gracey, the alleged negro robber, who was arrested in Boggs avenue, had three more commitments lodged at the jail yesterday against him. Inspector Thomas B. Werner charges Gracey with carrying concealed weapons and William C. Davidson and John Powell charge him with entering a building with intent to commit a felony. This makes 15 charges lodged against Gracey and more are expected to be made.

Examination for Positions.

A written examination of applicants for positions in the Carnegie library and branches will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m., in the class room in the basement of the Dale apartment house, Dithridge street, corner of Winthrop. This examination is open only to residents of Pittsburgh, who are between the ages of 17 and 35, and is intended as a test of general information, more particularly in history, literature and current events.

ELECTION BY BATTERY B OF TWO OFFICERS

Dr. C. C. Williams has been elected first lieutenant of Battery B to succeed Lieut. John Milton Ryall, who resigned. The second lieutenantcy, made vacant by the promotion of Dr. Williams, was filled by the election of John J. Coates. Coates was a corporal in the battery and served with that organization during the Spanish-American war.

Gas Explosion Burns Three.

An explosion of illuminating gas at the home of Mrs. Mary Hollihas, 2609 Wylie avenue, yesterday morning, burned Mrs. Hollihas about the head and hands. Her daughter, Mary, was also badly burned about the face, arms and hands, and was removed to Passavant hospital, and J. L. Slucker, a boarder, was burned about the face and right hand.

JUDGES ELECT CHARLES B. PRICE

He Is Appointee of Courts to Fill Vacancy on Board of County Commissioners.

MEYER FOR PROTHONOTARY

John A. Bell has declined the appointment of county commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. Carson Mercer, and the judges have named Charles B. Price. He says the selection is so much of a surprise to him that he desires a little time to think over the proposition.

Mr. Bell was appointed a week ago. Yesterday afternoon he informed the judges of the common pleas court that he could not accept. He declined the appointment because his private business demands all of his time.

The judges held a meeting late yesterday afternoon and in a few minutes selected Mr. Price. He has been mentioned for the place since the vacancy occurred, but was not an active candidate for the appointment. Mr. Price lives in Oakmont. He came to Pittsburgh in 1872 and from that time until May, 1902, he was connected with the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company. For 21 years he was superintendent of the road, being general superintendent when the railway passed into the control of the Pennsylvania in 1900. Previous to his coming to Pittsburgh, Mr. Price was for three years connected with the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad Company, that afterward passed into the control of the Valley. Since resigning in 1902, Mr. Price has devoted much of his time to traveling abroad. At present he is not engaged in any business. In politics he has always been a stalwart Republican.

CHARLES B. PRICE,
The New County Commissioner.

The Democrats have decided to demand four places on the fusion ticket. In addition to James A. Clark for commissioner, F. X. Barr for clerk of courts, C. B. Payne for register, they want the nomination for prothonotary to go to Henry Meyer of Allegheny. The first meeting of the Democratic and Citizens fusion committees will probably be held today. The Citizens were inclined to favor John W. Robinson of Allegheny as a candidate for prothonotary.

WABASH NOT CONCERNED.

Capt. W. Harry Brown Says He Bought Norfolk Property for a Real Estate Investment.

"The property at Norfolk mentioned in recent press dispatches was bought by myself alone," said Capt. W. Harry Brown yesterday. "It includes about 21 acres within the city limits of Norfolk, but as yet unimproved.

"The rumors that it was bought for railroad purposes is entirely wrong. I took it as a good piece of speculative real estate and shall sell it promptly upon receiving an attractive offer. There is no connection between this deal and any attempt of the Wabash to secure a harbor at Norfolk.

"It is true that the property possesses good harbor facilities. It is on the Elizabeth river and gains in value on that account.

McQUAIDE GETS ALL.

Awarded Reward for the Capture of Contractor Ferguson's Murderers.

Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide yesterday was awarded the entire reward of $1,000 by the Washington county commissioners in the capture of the murderers of Contractor Samuel T. Ferguson at West Middletown two years ago. In addition he receives all expenses from the time requisition papers were issued for Kovovick and Pattrovick until they were lodged in the Washington county jail.

It is probable the additional reward offered by the Ferguson Contracting Company of Pittsburgh will be dispensed in the same manner, it being stated that the firm was awaiting the decision of the commissioners.

CARS CAUSE ACCIDENTS.

Woman Falls from One and Another Runs Amuck.

The controller of car No. 1746 on the Troy hill line blew out at Federal street and Park way, Allegheny, yesterday morning. In the scramble to leave the car Mrs. Barbara Blank of Crafton fell from the running board, striking her head upon the paving blocks and causing lacerations of her scalp. She was removed to Allegheny General hospital.

A city bound Duquesne heights car jumped the track at Shiloh and Sycamore streets yesterday morning and crashed into a building on the northwest corner, demolishing the front of the structure. The damage is estimated at $500.

Opera at the Nixon.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home," at the Nixon is still holding its own, and the public seem to realize that the Nixon is the coolest spot in town. It will be played for the remainder of this week and next Monday the Japanese opera "The Mikado," will be produced with a star cast and every attention to detail in the way of costumes and scenery. The rehearsals indicate that the Carleton Opera Company is splendidly fitted for an artistic presentation of this opera. The sale of seats for next week will commence tomorrow morning.

Today a Millinery Event of Utmost Importance.

Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats for Women and Children at Forcefully Reduced Prices.

AMONG THE BOOKS.

A tender and idyllic love story in a setting of plot and counter-plot holds the reader in breathless interest to the end.

A Courier of Fortune
By Arthur W. Marchmont, author of "When I Was Czar," "In the Name of a Woman," etc., illustrated with scenes from the play.
Published at $1.50—in our book store at $1.08.

We have not stopped to figure out the average reduction but this much we will say—many of the hats have been reduced to a point much below half price. On some the reduction does not amount to so much but you have the opportunity of selection from the entire lot, so yours is the fault if you do not get the best bargain.

The importance of the event is increased owing to the fact that it is so early in the season, as such sweeping reductions as a rule come late in the year when the period of the articles' usefulness is about over.

Yet the simplest thing to do, and withal the greatest precaution, is to be careful about the water you drink. And this is where the Aquapura Filter comes in.

Costs $7.50.

Wednesday, June 21, 1905.

The appeal made by those who have opened local stations from which to provide pure milk for infants ought to meet with ready response, for the needs of neglected children will receive a sympathetic hearing if they are rightly presented. Proper feeding insures life saving for many an infant during the critical period in its existence.

Aside from their picturesque features the new fast trains between New York and Chicago have effected a material improvement in the mail service. The postoffice department congratulates itself that it can deliver letters to a limited extent to save Omaha business men 12 hours, or a full business day. This is worth while.

Assurance is given by the government crop report for the week that Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska are well forward with their winter wheat harvest and the crop is far above the average. Oats continue to promise favorably and the warm weather has caused marked improvement in the condition of corn. With these crops assured the country must be prosperous.

A Norwegian vessel entered New York Monday and the captain at first refused to file his papers with the consul for Norway and Sweden, because Norway had seceded. After he had been persuaded to comply he called attention to the fact that he was flying the Norse flag, which had thus been given recognition in this country. The precedent is hardly likely to result in international complications.

President Roosevelt's letter instructing Secretary Taft to dismiss Herbert W. Bowen, former minister to Venezuela, closes that incident. The president characterizes Bowen's conduct as "reprehensible." This will probably result in some improvement in the relations of our government with Venezuela and, what is more important, some improvement in the conduct of President Castro.

It is announced that after discontinuing purchases of oil under 32 degrees gravity in Kansas, the Standard interests propose to take that oil again at 25 cents a barrel. That is a better price than fuel oil brings in Texas and California, but is a fuel oil price. It is an indication the Kansas agitation is dying out, the fear of legislation for the confiscation of property is passing and that Kansas producers are prepared to go along as they do in other fields.

A report that Russia will put Americans in charge of the ship yards and some of the mills manufacturing naval and military supplies may contain some truth. There can be no question that fraud and incompetence in the construction of ships and furnishing of supplies contributed to the miserable exhibition of weakness Russia has made. American ships and guns tell a different story, so it will not be strange if Russia profits by painful experience.

After considering the matter for a week John A. Bell yesterday declined the election as county commissioner, and the judges of the courts elected in his stead Charles B. Price. Mr. Price was formerly superintendent of the river division of the Allegheny Valley railroad, succeeding to the general superintendency on the retirement of David McCargo. He will bring to the commissioner's office talent of a high order, his engineering and executive training being of especial value. The selection is a good one.

While temperate and conciliatory in tone, the address of the Norwegian storthing to King Oscar and the people of Sweden is firm in its assertion of separation. The king will be wise if he accepts it in the spirit in which it is sent. His own people will not approve any other course, as their numerous petitions have shown. War between these nearly allied countries would be inexcusable and inexpressibly horrible. Beside this, their safety from outside aggression lies in maintaining close sympathy, even with separate governments.

False Statements.

Mr. Frick's letter to Director Bigelow has created a furore. Incidentally a couple of newspapers have been indulging in charges that have no foundation. The Gazette challenges the Dispatch and the Leader to produce evidence that George T. Oliver has ever said a word against reduction of the hump, or that he has ever opposed the project, publicly or privately. The Gazette last year advocated the removal of the hump on the basis of special assessment and damages, as in the case of other street improvements. It said if the benefits were not equal to the damages the city should pay the difference. It even conceded the city might properly pay more than that. It has not swerved from that position. It has upon all occasions declared the improvement desirable.

In the matter of the widening of Virgin alley, now Oliver avenue, the facts speak for themselves. Henry W. Oliver was the largest owner of property in the district affected. He surrendered his property on the north side of the street at actual cost, exacting no profit, though the land was then worth much more than when he bought it. Being a large owner of property on the south side of the thoroughfare he cheerfully bore his share of the assessed benefits, thus paying a large part of the awards for the property taken from him on the other side of the street. His course was liberal.

In short, Oliver avenue was widened on the basis of benefits and damages assessed upon abutting property. Diamond street was improved on the same conditions. The Gazette has asked no more than that Fifth avenue should be improved on the same terms. Mr. Frick proposes a six-foot reduction on that basis. The Gazette, or its president, have not yet said they were opposed to the hump cut, even if the cost was put on the city, and any statement to the contrary is absolutely false and without foundation.

Wide Tires.

Two applications have been made for state aid in the improvement of roads in Allegheny county under the law of 1905. They are pretty certain to be given favorable consideration as soon as Commissioner Hunter has completed reorganization of his department according to the new law. Allegheny county is entitled to some of the state funds, for it has done much to improve its highways at its own expense. Moreover, it has adopted regulations for the use of wide tires that will go far to preserve these roads. Even those who are disposed, at first sight, to complain of this rule will learn, after using wide tires, that they have been benefited. It is susceptible of proof that it requires less traction to move a given load on wide than on narrow tires.

This matter is of even greater importance in districts of unimproved roads than on macadamized highways. The narrow tire digs up a dirt road, works the mud to great depth and sinks so the traction becomes excessive. The wide tire, on the contrary, acts as a roller to make the road better. The laws of the state put a premium on wide tires, but would accomplish more good if they made their use compulsory, as do the new rules of the Allegheny county commissioners. Probably there is no other single agency as powerful for the betterment of roads.

Preparing for Battle.

Russia's fatuous confidence in her military prowess will almost certainly result in at least one more sanguinary battle in Manchuria. Victorious Japan naturally feels it is incumbent on Russia to ask for a cessation of hostilities, pending peace negotiations, while Russia has neglected to make such a request. President Roosevelt has gone far enough in suggesting a conference between the powers, so it hardly devolves on him to ask them to agree to an armistice as a preliminary.

Another battle should not, however, interfere with preparations for the conference at Washington. Its result may affect the final terms of settlement but need not affect the desire of either party for a settlement. Japan has been ready, any time since the surrender of Port Arthur, to make peace at Russia's request. If Russia is again defeated, as we have reason to expect, it will have another incentive to accede to Japan's terms. If it should happen to win it would have some grounds for demanding a modification of the terms it expects to be confronted with. Meantime the world sorrowfully apprehends renewal of the carnage and unnecessary sacrifice of life.

Martyrs to Life.

In the slums of a big industrial city during the heated term of a latitude that is famous for its death-dealing humidity one may gather some startling proofs of the persistency of life. Death is the common end of life, and no fact is better known than the susceptibility of humanity to disease and to the thousand and one accidents that snap the life line. In the face of these things we find life persisting and even flourishing under conditions that would seem to the ordinary observer productive of almost universal death. It is this persistency of life that disarms of fear and induces indifference to the frightful conditions under which the helplessly poor and physically sodden masses live in the slum districts of a city. Take a hot day or night like the past two days and visit the very poor quarters of Pittsburgh and you will be amazed at the evidence of man's hold upon life and the necessary vitality to keep his place in the ranks.

Old women, long past the age when the system is supposed to be able to throw off even the ordinary inertia of life, are found breathing the hot, fetid atmosphere of the stuffy alleys where oxygen is deficient, and where there is a complete absence, seemingly, of all those hygienic necessities that prolong life. Side by side with the very old are the very young, the weak and feeble infant who seems never really to have caught even a slight grip upon life. These extremes of human physical weakness meet intense weather conditions in their comfortless surroundings with a fortitude that can only be accounted for upon the ground that life's supremest duty is an instructive, blind and hopeless persistency. We think when we see these hot weather sufferers that should we be placed in such position we would die within twenty-four hours. Perhaps we would, because much must be charged up to the habituated callousness of these slum dwellers, but it is just as likely that the life in us would fight on for existence, and in time come to accept with no visible sign of suffering, just as do the poor people who have never known any other condition.

The real civic and humanitarian lesson in this persistency of life is against indifference to the woes of these martyrs of life. It proves what resources for usefulness, and perhaps happiness, life might contain if it were given even a modicum of help. Life desires to live. When it is overburdened with conditions and overgrown with evil and indifference it still shows its willingness to do its part. For this reason the summer charities of free ice, free milk and free outings are little things that bring vast returns. They are the glints of sunshine in life's awful martyrdom.

A Tunnel Route.

There is evidence in the application for a charter for the Crosstown Tunnel Company that Pittsburgh has passed the stage of exclusively surface transit. The Mt. Washington tunnel pointed to the same conclusion. When projects of this sort are attractive to capital there is no room to ignore the fact that pressure on ordinary transit facilities is approaching the limit of endurance.

Pittsburgh topography lends itself peculiarly to these local underground vents, but they are not sufficient to give the relief that is needed. A general underground and elevated system is demanded. Street congestion downtown and street car congestion are growing despite the frequent efforts to increase facilities by particular improvements. Better management of the municipality would have resulted ere this in the beginning of a general improvement. It has been obvious for some years that mere additions to existing facilities for travel are inadequate to meet the situation. Radical departures are necessary—as radical at least as those that have been made by the railroads entering this city during the past three years.

Federal Prisoners.

The discovery that a federal prisoner confined in a Vermont jail had been allowed to keep a valet, besides receiving other privileges which made his incarceration easy, again calls attention to the need for better provision for the punishment of offenders against United States laws. Some time ago it was discovered that a defaulting bank official, sent to a Massachusetts jail, had so many privileges that he was practically a boarder in the jailer's family. He was allowed to go fishing and to leave the premises whenever he wished, and he usually spent his evenings playing games with the keeper's family.

Such partiality shown to federal criminals arises from the knowledge that they are beyond the county and state jurisdiction except in the fact that they have been committed to the sheriff's care. Besides this, they are often educated persons, accustomed to luxuries, and their personality is likely to appeal to the officer in charge. It has been the custom of attorneys to learn of the prisons where such offenders are likely to be treated leniently and ask that they be sent there to serve the term for which they are sentenced. While all such prisoners may not receive special consideration, there is the temptation to allow it so long as the present system prevails. This system should be promptly broken up.

With its usual accuracy the Leader of yesterday printed a portrait for former Senator John I. Mitchell of Pennsylvania as that of Senator John H. Mitchell of Oregon, who is on trial charged with improper connection with land cases. John H. Mitchell was born in Butler county, but this fact affords no excuse for confusing him with John I. Mitchell of Tioga county.

Uncle Sam will doubtless decline that invitation to join an international conference on the internal affairs of Morocco. With temperatures ranging in the 90's Uncle Sam has an infernal affair that keeps him quite busy.

Perhaps Mr. Frick didn't know that there are people and newspapers in Pittsburgh who know considerable more about what he meant in that letter than he does himself.

That Englishman with a whitewashing outfit who came to this country to become a millionaire ought to have interviewed Tom Lawson before he began business.

The Washington Post gravely comes to the defense of the courage of the jack rabbit. The foot in the Post's possession must be of the graveyard variety.

Senator Allison, the grand old man of the senate, has gone to Europe for a vacation. In the meantime the lid out in Iowa is without an occupant.

A news dispatch declares that Oyama is advancing. This being true it will not require two guesses to tell what Linevitch is preparing to do.

Pittsburgh is used to being ahead of every other city, but her heat pre-eminence is a little hard to accept philosophically.

Some people are talking for Mr. Frick before he gets home, just as though that gentleman was unable to speak for himself.

Director Bigelow declares for an 18-foot cut or nothing. Court house foundations be hanged.

The Philadelphia political situation has reached the "Send Dem Presents Back" stage.

He breathed a gentle, tender verse,
Of summer joys it lilted.
Later behind the lawn mower's whirr,
Both his song and collar wilted.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Commencement days are red-letter days to those who have spent years at school. Why are they called commencement days when in fact they are the last, or closing days? This is suggestive of hitching the cart before the horse.

There is a different view of the case, from which the use of the word commencement appears to be entirely correct. While it signifies the end of school days it also signifies the commencement of a career in life, and as this is all important, or at least more important than the ending of a school career, it is altogether proper to denominate the occasion as commencement—the beginning of a new career.

Has it ever occurred to you that the commencement following the close of your life career will not be held in a college hall, or public place, but in a chapel, or maybe a stuffy room, reeking with funeral odors, or possibly out in the open with mother earth waiting to enfold you in her arms of clay and welcome you back again. Or the commencement may be held in the wild woods, or on the wild waters of the sea or lake, or far under the ground. And yet it is a commencement all the same.

* * *

There is always a lot of nonsense written along about this time concerning the sweet girl graduate, just as though she were a sweeter girl than thousands of others who are toiling day by day that they may live, and that others may live in comparative comfort.

Of course she is sweet, as all are ready to testify who know a sweet, young thing when they see it. She looks the part, and acts it on the platform, which to her is the greatest, and grandest, and most wonderful platform ever constructed, or ever conceived, for that matter. And the fact that she is on the platform, and that there is a sea of favors with waves of swaying fans, and murmurs of subdued voices suggestive of the murmurs of the sea, and to cause her to feel that she is not only the sweetest, but dearest thing on earth.

And there will probably be at least one seated in the front row who is willing to agree with her fully. He may be poorer in pocket by the sum paid for the bouquet she carries, but doubly richer in heart by knowing that she read her essay, or said her piece, to him.

Can't you see that it is her commencement in real life? Don't you know that she is about to step from the platform brilliant in light, redolent with roses, and illuminated with beauty, to the real stage, the stage upon which she is to take part in the great drama of life, a continuous performance. Death alone can ring down the curtain on this stage, and he rings a separate curtain for each performer when he concludes his last and final lines.

It's a gay old world when you're gay,
And a glad old world when you're glad,
But whether you play
Or go toiling away,
It's a sad old world when you're sad.

It's a grald old world if you're great,
And a mean old world if you're small;
It's a world full of hate
For the foolish who prate
Of the uselessness of it all.

It's a beautiful world to see,
Or it's dismal in every zone;
The thing it must be
In its gloom or its glee,
Depends on yourself alone.

—S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.

Sam is onto it, all right.

Do you know Sam. Kiser? If not you don't know all the good fellows. He is not only a good fellow, but a philosopher with the gift of poetry.

Although not old in years, and never will be really old, he is rich in wisdom and has a good stock of common sense at his command.

Being a graduate of the College of Hard Knocks he hardly had a commencement. This college, as you may know, does not indulge in commencements, and its graduates write and sign their own diplomas. And strange as it may seem their diplomas are usually preferred to those to which several capital letters are attached with period marks between, signifying that they are signs of great learning.

The graduate of the College of Hard Knocks writes a thesis every day instead of a single one to be submitted with his final examination papers. He sometimes writes it with sweat and sometimes with blood, but he writes it without fail and it is filed with his final examination papers.

* * *

The brave man seeks not popular applause,
Nor, overpowered with arms, deserts his cause;
Unshamed, though foiled, he does the best he can.
Force is of brutes, but honor is of man.
—Dryden.

Many young men are today walking with prouder step because the walls of their rooms, or of the parlors at home are decorated with neatly framed diplomas. Or maybe they are yet bound with blue ribbons and wrapped in vellum.

And this is something to be proud of, even though it be but a passing pride. At very best it is only a certificate that they are ready to commence to live, and if they do not proceed to live according to their knowledge and ocommon sense their diplomas will avail them nothing.

Some young men rely upon their diplomas to gain for them star parts on the stage of life. These are often grievously disappointed, for it does not always happen that the amateur actor who receives most applause on the school-house platform will meet with a like reception on the world's stage.

Indeed it often happens that the "supe" who is taking a course in the school of Hard Knocks gets star parts in preference to the fellow with a diploma, which is discouraging to him, but encouraging to him who is writing his own diploma. But it does not pay to get discouraged.

"Sometimes we are almost discouraged
The way is so cumbered and steep;
Sometimes, though we're spent with the sowing,
There cometh no harvest to reap.
And we faint on the road and we falter,
As our faith and our courage are gone,
Till a voice, as we kneel at the altar,
Commands us: 'Take heart and go on.'

* * *

As the ending of the bud is the commencement of the bloom, and the ending of the bloom the commencement of the fruit, so is the ending of the school days the commencement of college life, and the ending of college days the commencement of a life career, and the ending of the days of life the commencement of a career of happiness and rest, or of unrest or unhappiness, at least as nearly as man has been able to learn.

It is worth while, therefore, preparing for the grand, final commencement, even though we may not fully know just what is before us, for no more does the girl or boy on these commencement days know what is before them, except that as they do well their parts, so shall they be rewarded.

More than this no one knows, nor can know, for the future of every man depends upon the use he makes of the present.

It is the law of life that enables the boys and girls in the school of Hard Knocks to make out as well as very many of them do, even outstripping those who have enjoyed far greater educational and social advantages.

So that, after all, there are few, if any really good reasons for being discouraged, not even for those who are awkward and backward, for didn't Sothern, the actor, find his "Lord Dundreary" and become famous? You will find your winning part if only you are industrial, patient and true. Send a sweet breeze from the sea, O Lord.
From Thy deep, deep sea of love;
Though it lift not the veil from the cloudy height,
Let the brow grow cool and the footstep light,
As it comes with a holy and soothing might,
Like the wing of a snowy dove.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—New York leads the world in sudden changes of weather. Yesterday morning the average man felt that a bathing suit would be about the right sort of costume for comfort, provided he were allowed to carry an umbrella to ward off the heat of the sun and avoid blisters. This morning many a man who came down to business early brought his overcoat along, and he didn't wear it over his arm either. After the three days of intense record-breaking heat, the cool wave is all the more noticeable, and one is inclined to feel absolutely chilled by the breezes that are fresh off the ocean waves.

Yesterday afternoon everything pointed to rain, but it didn't really come. During the night there was an occasional cold drizzle, but at no time was it heavy enough to even dampen the pavements. It was the cool ocean breeze that did the work, and did it to perfection. Just as the doctors were rejoicing that the hot wave would end the epidemic of spinal meningitis, the wave disappeared, leaving in its stead just the sort of chill weather that causes the malady to thrive. Perhaps it will not last long enough to cause a recurrence of the epidemic, but one can never tell what sort of weather another hour will bring forth on this little island. He may feel pretty sure that there will be no snow for a few months, but that is as far as one dares hasard a guess.

Insanity Caused by the Heat.

Despite the change in the weather, or perhaps because of the suddenness of the change, one man was carried to the hospital this morning a victim of insanity as a result of heat prostration. His first attack was a year ago, which nearly proved fatal. Yesterday he took his little daughter to the park, and when he returned he began to act strangely. He grew worse during the night, and about 4 o'clock this morning his wife had to call for assistance to care for him. The police called the ambulance, and the man was taken to the Presbyterian hospital, where he will have to undergo protracted treatment to bring him back to health again.

First Victim of the Equitable Row.

James W. Alexander seems to be the first victim of the troubles in the Equitable Assurance society. His friends today admit he is a victim of overwork and must take a long rest before he can hope to be restored to health. They will not admit, however, that there is anything organically the matter with him. Mr. Alexander's case is like that of many another big financier who has gone though a very trying business experience, and no one would be surprised should the Equitable trouble claim other victims. It is seldom that all the participants escape with their health after such a strenuous campaign as has been waged in the Equitable society.

Hero in an Automobile.

That a hero may ride in an automobile was shown when an unknown man jumped from his machine near Ridgefield, N. J., and rescued two boys who were in sore straits in Morris canal. The autoist jumped into the water without waiting to divest himself of even his outer garments, and soon had the two boys out on the bank. Then he jumped into his whisz wagon, turned on the power and was soon lost in the distance. He even forgot the formality of telling the lads his name, and they will never know to whom they owe their lives.

Morrell Joins the "Has Beens."

The New York police force is about to lose its most unique character, as Jefferson Morrell has announced that he will retire at the end of 20 days. Morrell has been on the force for 32 years, and for 27 years he has been in charge of the morgue. In that time he has become an expert in his line, and could tell at a glance whether a victim fished out of the river had been drowned or had met foul play. The Slocum disaster had much to do with the retirement of Morrell. At that time he worked 36 hours without stopping to rest, and the strain permanently affected him.

Jerome "Saved His Distance."

It is the general opinion of New Yorkers that District Attorney Jerome barely "saved his distance" a couple of weeks ago when he insisted that automobile owners or chauffeurs should be held for court when accused of exceeding the speed limit. Had he not taken such drastic action he would have come in for a large amount of censure as a result of the numerous fatal accidents that have occurred during the past few days. But since the district attorney has done his duty to the limit, there is no one to criticise. Mr. Jerome always was lucky in getting out of tight places in the nick of time.

Banking Business Is Looking Up.

Bank stock seems to be a pretty fair investment security, judging from the action of the directors of the Fifth Avenue bank of this city today. The regular quarterly dividend of 25 per cent was declared, then as a little surprise to the stockholders an extra dividend of 125 per cent was declared out of the undivided profits accumulated during 1903 and 1904. Those who are fond of figures can spend time figuring out the value of Fifth Avenue bank stock on the usual five per cent basis. With 100 per cent profit a year, and an occasional extra dividend of 125, the value must be away up among the real figures.

Objected to Sprinkling.

A Baptist preacher went tearing into the state house the other day to get out of a rainstorm.

"Why, Brother Smith," said Gov. Hoch, "what is your hurry? You are a Baptist. I hope you are not afraid of water?"

Contrast in Buffalo Values.

A buffalo bull recently slaughtered in Iowa brought its owner nearly $1,000. The head sold for $60, the hide for $300 and the meat for 50 cents a pound. In the year 1877 a drove of buffalo estimated at 4,000,000 head crossed the North Platte river in Nebraska and were worth $1 apiece for the poachers who exterminated them for their hides.—Kansas City Journal.

TRUST IN AMERICA

Great Britain's Naval Defense Policy Counts on Our Friendship.

By SIR CHARLES W. DILKE.

The recent remarkable changes in Great Britain's defense policy, officially explained in various ways, or as strikingly left unexplained by vague ministerial statements, have a real meaning of widest international moment at this time, when a new grouping of the powers seems imminent, and of more particular interest and importance to the two great English-speaking peoples. These changes mean, as is proved by facts which can be set forth, that the present British government frankly and profoundly believes that Great Britain will never again wage war with the United States.

In the case of Venezuela a most dangerous complication between the United Kingdom and the United States, by which the opinion of both nations had been exasperated, melted away, and the arbitration on the Venezuelan question contributed to the happy relations which now exist between the two greatest naval powers of the future.

Sir Charles Dilke then refers to the course pursued by Great Britain in practically abandoning the naval stations in Halifax and Esquimault, withdrawing the garrison from St. Lucia, closing the dockyard in Jamaica and the similar steps taken generally throughout the American stations as indicating a change of policy rather than being for merk strategy. Bermuda alone of the transatlantic naval stations is to be maintained, indicating that Great Britain intends to protect trade routes.

Differences to Be Arbitrated.

Our government have stated in both houses of parliament that "when war breaks out," or, less clumsily, "when need arises," men and machinery for our West Indian and American dockyards "will be sent out." Every sailor knows that the navy will never undertake such convoy at such times, and that this explanation does not meet the possibilities of dangerously strained relations between ourselves and the United States.

It is clearly the view of the present government, and the matter is one in which their decision cannot be reversed by their successors, and is, therefore, final, that all future differences between ourselves and the United States will be settled by arbitration, or at least without resort to arms.

The Times naval critics and other high authorities have so frequently drawn from the fate of Port Arthur the moral that fleets are lured to destruction by fortified naval bases that it ought, perhaps, to be added to what has been said of our American bases that the Port Arthur argument may apply to a fortress such as Halifax, but does not affect bases such as those in the West Indies. Even as regards Halifax, a British fleet, with its fine traditions of never being caught by war in port, but of putting to sea whenever international relations become strained, would not be bird-limed by such a place as Halifax. The present war, so far from diminishing the importance attached to naval bases, has once more demonstrated their absolute necessity to fleets. We shall never be able to count on the benevolent neutrality of European powers, and must either have our own coaling stations or be in a position to seize and occupy temporary bases. Temporary bases far from home are, however, blockades of Brest and of Toulon—and are always a drag to the fleet at the commencement of a war.

The belief then of our government as to the permanence of good relations between ourselves and the United States stands established by the facts, as does their confidence in the friendliness and love of peace of the French republic by the conventions recently concluded.

Influence of the Japanese Victory.

The completeness of the Japanese naval victory gives ground for hope that these understandings between ourselves on the one hand and France and America on the other will not be exposed to the strain to which continental intervention, nominally for peace, but really on behalf of Russia, would have subjected them. Japan may think it necessary to continue the war until, by the taking of Vladivostok, she has deprived Russia of the temptation to renew the struggle after a few years. However friendly we may be to peace, it is not for us to weigh upon Japan in a decision with regard to which the Japanese may plead that continuance of war at the moment may, in the long run, tend to lasting peace. Had there been any hope that Russia might regain the command of the sea against Japan it would have been difficult for France to have been behind Germany in support of her ally, and friction between France (determined though she is on peace) and ourselves would have resulted. So, too, any dismemberment of China to the advantage of Russia or Germany, protested against by the United States in pursuance of the policy of the open door, maintained by the United Kingdom and Japan, but followed by a declaration that America would not go beyond the mere expression of a wish, might also have caused a certain coldness between the press and people, though not between the governments of the English-speaking powers. As things stand, however, the success of the Japanese arms does not seem likely to cause the government of Japan to change its policy or to set up demands inconsistent with the trade objects which, as regards China, the United States and Great Britain pursue in common with Japan.

I am not, as a rule, among the most sanguine of the observers of the policy of nations, but on the present occasion may, for that very reason, allow myself to express the hope that the new groupings of the powers which may follow the close of the far eastern war may rather be in the nature of alliances of guarantee of status quo, combined with simultaneous reduction of armaments, at least in the Pacific, than fighting alliances looking toward war. It is so certain that Germany will keep the bulk of her fleet in home waters, as the best means of strengthening her diplomacy, that her refusal to come into an international arrangement might safely be treated as having little bearing on the naval situation. America has hitherto shown a most laudable reserve in the matter of alliances. She has, however, become what we style a far eastern power; she is deeply interested in the commerce of the China coasts; and an agreement to limit local naval expenditure might not to be beyond her conception of her future sphere.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES

Close to 400 coal men from Pennsylvania and New York reached Pittsburgh about 10 o'clock last evening on a special train over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad furnished for the occasion by the Pittsburgh Coal Company. The members of the party are here to attend the annual convention of the New York and Pennsylvania Retail Coal association. Headquarters are at the Hotel Henry.

The special train started from Buffalo and made stops at Dunkirk, Erie, Ashtabula and Youngstown, at which points were gathered the members not only from these towns but from others in the surrounding sections. J. F. Walsh, general manager of sales, and S. P. Woodside, traffic manager of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, were in charge of the party, and were assisted by the representatives of the company at the principal cities in the territory. Among these representatives were A. J. Lane, agent at Buffalo, with H. F. Butler and George Maguire; H. C. Marshall and John Morris of Youngstown; Douglas Hill of Erie, and Fred Seal of Cleveland. At the station the train was met by W. A. Marsh, assistant general manager of sales, and H. G. Parker, shipper, who escorted the delegates to the Henry.

The members of the party will at 9:30 a. m. today board a special train at the Lake Erie station and start for the Mon Run mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, returning to Pittsburgh at 1 o'clock. This afternoon the majority of the party will be free, enabling them to become acquainted with the city. This evening there will be a business session in the banquet hall of the Henry, and L. S. Levine, assistant city solicitor, on behalf of Mayor Magee, will welcome the visitors. Tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., they will go aboard the Island Queen for a trip up the Monongahela, where they will see several mines, and returning by night will have a chance to see the basis for the description of Pittsburgh as "Hades with the lid off." On Friday morning at 10:30 they will start on their return, the Pittsburgh Coal Company providing the special train to take them to their homes.

The members of the party were a merry crowd at the Henry last evening, and spoke of their trip as a big event. There were 10 coaches, two dining cars and a buffet car on the special train. The officers are: President, Col. William T. Endress, Jamestown, N. Y.; secretary-treasurer, George H. Mitchell, Mill Village, Pa.

Pierced by Imaginary Bullet.

"Say, Jim, were you ever pierced by a bullet?" asked a man who was afterward found to be H. Wyman, a New York traveling man, who was stopping at the Anderson. "Well, I wasn't pierced myself, but I would hardly want to feel worse than I did when I imagined myself pierced by one when I was down in the Lone Star state a few weeks ago. It was at San Antonio, and more, it was president's day at San Antonio. I had noticed Mr. Roosevelt was to be there, but I did not expect any such demonstration as attended his presence. The town and country was in gala array, so was I after a little skirmish in which I might have been pierced by a real bullet for my rashness. I had boarded a car bound for the outskirts of the town. The car was a closed one and was crowded to the doors. Suddenly a woman yelled 'Help! Thieves!' At the same instant two burly looking fellows alighted from the car. In a moment I took in the situation—one of them had snapped the woman's purse and passed it to the other, both of them being near enough to the door to escape. In less time than I can say it I had jumped from the car, right out through the window, and was chasing after these fellows before the conductor had left the car. I caught one of them, but the other jumped from the side of the street into an open field. I held the fellow until help came, and when the policeman came along I was deputized to take the man to the station house while he went after the other one. The fellow was handcuffed, of course, and I had no trouble going to the station house. It was just as I entered with the man that the worst came. The sergeant took to the situation, I think, but he saw I was a tenderfoot and he wanted to give me a scare. He asked for my credentials. I showed the policeman's card and scribbling. Then he asked whether I had a gun. I had none. 'Why, young fellow,' said he 'don't you know when to keep out of danger?' This fellow could have put daylight through you in a jiffy. Look at this.' The officer pulled a big pistol from under my prisoner's vest. I wilted into a chair. It was the nearest thing to a bullet hole that I want to encounter."

Credit Men Meet.

Members of the Retail Lumber and Builders Supply Dealers' association of Pittsburgh held their regular meeting at the Colonial hotel last evening. Prior to the business session there was an association luncheon, which was enjoyed by the members with a few impromptu toasts. The business session was taken up mainly with a consideration of amending the by-laws of the association, but no announcement was made of the action taken. J. J. Muns of Allegheny is president of the organization of A. C. Reiter is secretary.

Are Proud of Tyrone.

That civic spirit of the right kind is found in the hearts of citizens of the smaller towns in Central Pennsylvania was manifest last evening when City Engineer R. A. Zentmyer and Attorney C. G. Templeton of Tyrone gave voice to the feelings they have for their thriving mountain town. They were registered at the Anderson with Attorney C. G. Brown of Huntingdon, and Proprietor C. Grazier of the Huntingdon Furnace, formerly a well-known resident of Scottdale. The party is in Pittsburgh on a private business mission. The importance of Tyrone as a railroad town and the increase of manufacturing interests there, together with a generally healthy pride in the town, give assurance of a good community and a growing little city.

Keeping P. R. R. in Good Shape.

Closer attention will doubtless be given by J. T. Richards, chief engineer of maintenance of way of the Pennsylvania railroad and by the inspection committee of six which he heads to the physical condition of the running tracks of the road's main line on the inspection trip eastward from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia today. Not that the most thorough attention has not been paid to this phase in the inspections heretofore, but because of the Pennsylvania special and other fast and important trains using the running tracks. Some of these trains almost fly along the track, while other go almost as fast, but have very heavy equipment. It is known that the fast running and heavy equipment requires closer attention to be given to the physical condition of the road. Mr. Richards will arrive this morning from Philadelphia to accompany the other officers eastward in the special track car. The other six men arrived last night.

Relic of John Wesley.

A relic of John Wesley was found on the beach at Sheepshead Bay recently in the form on an open faced oval locket, containing what is supposed to be a lock of the reformer's hair. The copper plate forming the face of the locket was originally covered by hair. It is badly corroded and only traces of the hair are visible. The other side, which is formed of a gold plate with a medallion in the center containing hair, is in a good state of preservation. It bears the following distinct

...ANT CHANGE IN APPOINTMENT

Lutheran Synod Discusses Proposition at Length and Votes for Further Inquiry.

UNION OF SYNOD MUST WAIT

A proposition to change the basis of apportionment covering all synodical expenses was the theme that encouraged the greatest discussion during yesterday's session of the general synod of the Lutheran church in Bethany church, North Highland avenue. Under the present system, the apportionment is placed upon each congregation on the basis of membership. The Rev. E. D. Garland of Dayton, O., offered a motion to change this so that the church having the greatest expense would receive the largest apportionment. This would mean that congregations would be assessed in proportion to their own individual expenses.

Judge Peter S. Grosscup of Chicago, spoke of the difficulties and importance of the church fiscal policy, and recommended that the special committee be enlarged to include a representative from each synod; that the matter be considered by each individual synod, and that two years hence, at the next convention, full report be made. This amendment was approved.

The Rev. Dr. Jacob Frey, professor in the Mt. Airy seminary of the general council branch of the church, made a brief address. He has been in the ministry 52 years. He spoke of the conditions leading to the rupture of the two leading bodies of the church, and favored unity. He stated, however, that the union at this time was impossible because certain missions would have to be worked out by all the branches before a merger was possible. He declared that the various bodies in the church were preaching in eight different languages, and that a uniform working basis under such conditions was impractical at this time. The Rev. Dr. Alfred H. Fahenstock of Syracuse, N. Y., who is the fraternal delegate from the Presbyterian general assembly, delivered an address in which he lauded the work of Martin Luther and spoke of the striking parallel in form of worship and doctrine between the Lutheran and Presbyterian denominations. The Rev. Dr. D. H. Bauslin, president of synod, replied on behalf of the convention.

The evening session was addressed by the Rev. Frederick G. Gotwald, general secretary of the board of education. His theme was "The Teaching Province in the Mission of the Church." He contended that the church's duty was to teach as well as preach and held that the church was best advised because of its world-wide scope and existence under every form of government. He declared that the church was not an aristocracy of wealth, and was commissioned to serve the weak as well as the strong.

At this morning's session the report of the board of education will be received, while the afternoon will be devoted to miscellaneous business. Tonight the publication address is to be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Altman. In addition to Sunbury, Pa., it is likely that Lebanon and Philadelphia will ask for the next biennial convention. It is not believed that the work of the synod can be concluded today.

MEDICAL OFFICERS WANT SANITARY CAMP

National Guard Officers Expect to Make Shining Example of the Erie Encampment.

The latest application of medical and sanitary science will be applied at the encampment of the Second brigade, N. G. P., at Camp Capt. C. S. W. Jones, at Erie next month.

The site of the camp is said by the officers to excel any location the state troops have had in recent years, from both a sanitary and military standpoint. With the ground sloping gently toward the beach of Lake Erie, affording a broad parade ground for drills and reviews, beside excellent drainage, the medical officers of the regimental organizations, the battery of artillery and the two troops of cavalry, as well as the brigade and division medical staffs, will have every opportunity to maintain a first class sanitary condition in the camp. In order to make their work more effective, the medical officers of the local organizations expect to go to Erie in advance of the pitching of the canvas.

"With a water and ice supply on an equality with the drainage and the other advantages of the camp," said Dr. H. B. Furns, assistant surgeon and chief medical officer with Battery B, "there is no reason why the Second brigade should not show the whole Pennsylvania guard some lessons in the progress of sanitary science. It is a fact, however, that the ice supply sometimes is filled with germs when the water is comparatively pure. Every effort should be put forth to secure the best quality of ice for this encampment."

"With an ideal camp site we should leave nothing undone toward establishing a sanitary system as nearly perfect as any militia camp ever enjoyed," said Dr. C. C. Wiley, major and surgeon of the Eighteenth regiment. "All the officers have expressed the desire to make a record for the good health of the men. At Gettysburg last year our regiment made a fine showing as to its hospital reports and this year we expect to make it even better."

IS HIT BY TRAIN, THEN DROWNED

After Having Hand Crushed on Trestle, Man Falls 80 Feet Into Silver Lake.

OFFICER DIVES FOR BODY

After having been run over by a train on the Brilliant cut-off trestle over Silver lake, a man thought to have been William Hallstein of 6626 Tennis street, East End, recovered consciousness only to fall off the trestle and drop 80 feet into the lake below, never to rise.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last evening C. W. Getty of 809 Inwood street was crossing the trestle, when he was attracted by the moans of a man lying on the tracks over which a passenger train and shifting engine had just passed. Upon investigation he found that the man's right hand had been crushed. The victim was semi-conscious. In a few moments the man seemed to gain full consciousness and Getty sought assistance. When he returned, the body had disappeared.

Meanwhile, Thomas Kramer of 6629 Lyric street, who was crossing the Lincoln avenue bridge, heard a splash in the lake and informed Getty and Officer Patrick Golden who had arrived. The men searched the river bank and found a hat lying on the water's edge. Volunteers were called for to search the lake for the body and Golden and Kramer threw off their clothes and plnged into the lake. After repeated diving Officer Golden located the body imbedded in mud in the center of the lake, and after 20 minutes' effort brought it to shore.

The body was that of a man about 60 years of age, with gray beard and hair, and from his dress appeared to be a laborer. Letters addressed to William Hallstein and naturalization papers made out in the same name, were found in the pockets. The body was taken to the morgue.

Frank Russell, aged 56, a puddler employed at the Seaman-Sleeth plant in Forty-first street, fell 30 feet from a platform there at 5 o'clock last evening and fractured his skull and broke both his arms and legs. He was removed to St. Francis hospital where he died at 8:15 o'clock. He was married and lived in Plummer street.

Petrona Caravano, aged 19, a water boy employed in a mine near McDonald, was killed Monday night by being run over by an engine. He was riding in the cab of the engine and in attempting to jump off fell under the wheels.

Ignatz Zidzanoes, a Croatian, died yesterday at the McKees Rocks hospital from a stab wound inflicted by Michael Gullavitch on June 14 at McKees Rocks. The men quarrelled and Gullavitch was knocked down by Zidzanoes. The latter walked away and Gullavitch pursued him and stabbed him in the back. Gullavitch is in jail waiting the result of the coroner's inquest.

Horace R. Basler, aged 50, editor of the Sheraden Journal, was killed yesterday by falling off a train on the Panhandle railroad while on his way to the city. His head struck a telegraph pole killing him instantly. He was born in Lisbon, O., and is survived by his widow and three children.

BELIEVED WABASH IS AFTER LINE TO BUFFALO

Surveyors said to be in the employ of the Wabash railroad are in Tarentum surveying for what is thought to be a direct line of the Wabash to Buffalo. The survey keeps to the northern bank of the Allegheny river as far as Tarentum, crosses Bull creek there, and extends north to Butler. The line, it is said, is to connect with the Bessemer near Harmarville.

REVENUE COLLECTOR REMOVED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Clarence Meeser was removed today by President Roosevelt as deputy collector of internal revenue at Philadelphia. Mr. Meeser formerly was a clerk in the copyright department in the congressional library here and was involved in the Salter election frauds. The investigation was made by the civil service commission and his removal is the result of that investigation.

Hears of Brother Mourned as Dead.

Mourning his brother Sydney as dead for the last seven years, Charles Calcutt of McKeesport yesterday received a letter from him which told of his being in a wreck at Cleveland, O., seven years ago, how he escaped and went west and how he, a few days ago, learned of the whereabouts of his brother Charles, whom he also believed dead. Sydney Calcutt's name was published among others who were killed in the wreck of a passenger train at Cleveland. He was only injured and spent some time in a hospital, after which he went west.

The Weber Pianola Piano

Do you know what that is?

It's a Weber piano with a Pianola piano player built inside.

The combination is the greatest thing of the kind ever devised, because:

First—The Weber Piano is generally admitted to be in the very forefront of the highest grade instrument.

Second—The Pianola is absolutely the world's greatest piano player.

The keyboard of the Weber Pianola piano is the same as that of any other piano and can be played by hand as any other.

The Pianola attachment, being hidden, does not in any way mar the appearance of the piano or affect its tone or capabilities.

But here's the advantage. Any person can play any kind of music on this piano, whether he previously had seen an instrument or not.

Weber Pianola Piano, $900 to $1,000.

Wheelock Pianola Piano, $750.

MRS. HOYT HAD HER DOG BOBBIE EAT AT TABLE

Doctor Testifies in Will Case That She Told Him She Used Drugs to Produce Sleep.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

TIFFIN, O., June 20.—In the Hoyt will case today a deposition was read from Dr. William Polk of New York City, saying that Mrs. Hoyt was embittered at being childless. The deposition says that she admitted to him that her will power was passing away, and that she had resorted to the use of drugs to produce sleep.

Miss Callie Mosier testified that she visited Mrs. Hoyt in New York, and that the dog "Bobbie" was given a place at the table and furnished with a white napkin and compelled to eat food distasteful to him because, as Mrs. Hoyt explained, it was good for him.

Mrs. Hoyt left $100,000 to Judge Bunn of Tiffin. Her relatives are trying to break the will.

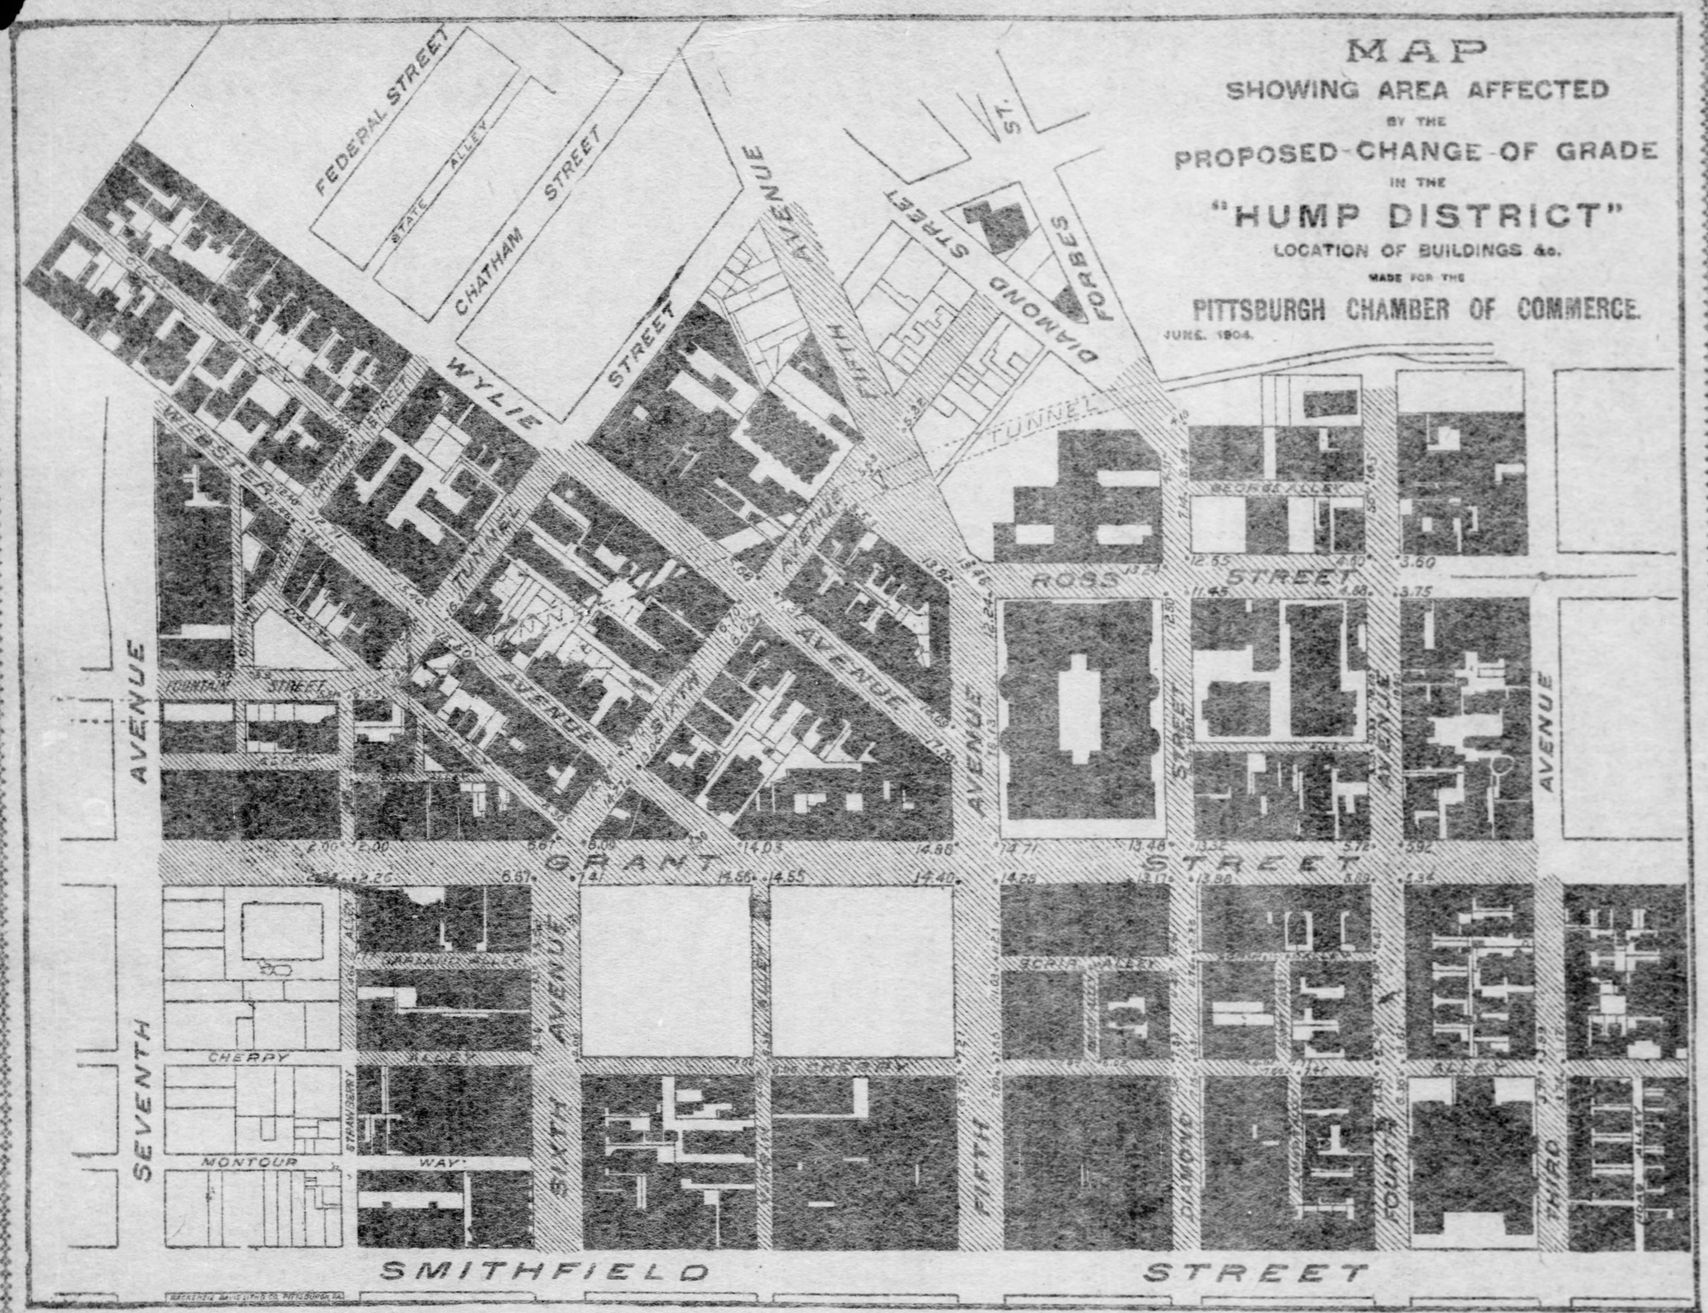
PHILADELPHIA DENTISTS.
TAFT
For 21 Years at 223 FIFTH AVENUE.

AREA OF LARGE EXTENT WOULD BE AFFECTED BY PROPOSED 18-FOOT HUMP CUT



How wide an area would be affected by the proposed elimination of "The Hump" is shown on the map above which was prepared for the Chamber of Commerce a year ago when the question was before the citizens of Pittsburgh and was unfavorably received.

It will be seen that the plan based on a reduction of approximately 18 feet at Fifth and Wylie avenues affects directly all the property within the confines of Smithfield street, Seventh avenue, Chatham street, Wylie avenue, Tunnel street, Old avenue, the Panhandle railroad and Third avenue.

The total number of feet front on the streets affected is 21,270 and on alleys, 10,850.

Accurate surveys and careful estimates were made for the Chamber of Commerce by W. R. Browne and C. A. Cooper, the engineers appointed by the Chamber for this purpose. It was shown that the total city work on streets would cost $820,274, that the Philadelphia Company, the Bell and P. & A. telephone companies, the Peoples Natural Gas Company and the Postal and Western Union telegraph companies would need to spend $325,306, making a total of $1,145,580 for the work in streets, excluding house connections with the mains. For excavation, masonry and lowering, sewer and water connection on streets and lots for the properties along the cut, $1,695,476 would need to be spent. The total was placed at $2,841,056.

This estimate did not provide for the cost of maintaining service while the work was in progress, the loss of rentals, the increased cost of fire risks and the great inconvenience to the public and the loss of business.

The map gives some interesting data as to the depth of the proposed cut at important points. At the eastern corner of Fifth and Wylie it would be 18.09 feet; at the western corner, 17.79. At Grant street and Fifth avenue it would be between 14 and 15 feet; at Grant and Sixth from 6.67 to 7.41; at Grant and Strawberry, 2; at Grant and Seventh, the present grade. The cut at Webster and Chatham is over 12 feet; at Webster and Tunnel, 16; at Webster and Sixth, 14; at Webster and Grant, about 14. Wylie keeps its old grade east of Tunnel street. At Wylie and Sixth the cut is about six feet, and at Fifth, 18. At Fifth and Sixth avenues the reduction is over 8 feet. At Ross and Fifth, 12 feet; at Ross and Diamond, 13; at Ross and Fourth, 4; at Grant and Diamond, 18; Grant and Fourth, 6; Cherry and Sixth, practically nothing; Cherry and Oliver, between 6 and 7; Cherry and Fifth, 7; Cherry and Diamond, 8; Cherry and Fourth, 7; Cherry and Third, 4.

MAN OF MILLIONS DEVOTED TO ART

W. H. Singer, Jr., Returns from Four Years Study and Painting in Europe.

ARTIST BORGORD IS WITH HIM

William H. Singer, Jr., the former steelmaster who was won by art and is today a landscape painter with a great career before him, is just back from four years' residence abroad. At his summer home on "Hill Crest," Edgeworth, yesterday, he and Mrs. Singer were unpacking the 38 cases brought over with them. They are accompanied by Martin Borgord, a former art instructor in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, who accompanied them abroad.

Mr. Singer resumes his residence in America, but sketching expeditions will come from time to time, in fact, he is already planning one for the fall to Newfoundland. Mr. Borgord confines himself to the painting of figures, and has made for himself a high place in portraiture. Friends have intimated to him that Pittsburgh is a most inviting field in this regard, and he will remain here.

After the acquirement of the Singer-Nimick steel plant by the Crucible Steel Company, Mr. Singer decided to devote his life to art. He went to Paris, but preferring to develop his art on his own lines rather than on those found in the schools, spent two years at Laren, Holland, in the Anton Mauve country. The last two summers have been spent in Norway at Hind Saetar, the mountain district of Jotunheim, along the river Sjva.

This is a famous field for landscape painters. It is one day by rail from Christiana and two more by road. Cabins have been built along a chain of lakes of which the Gjende is the most famous. They are at an altitude of 5,000 feet, with snow-capped peaks rising several thousand feet above that. It is in a glacier country, with reindeer and moss all about. The streams abound with trout, and a good catch is almost the certainty.

Mr. Singer has quite abandoned Dutch subjects, his belief being that no foreigner can hope to paint Dutch landscape as well as the native masters. His work is more now with rugged mountain scenery. He has made remarkable progress in his art and has received every encouragement from such Dutch masters as Neuaus, Blommers, Pieters and Ofermaus. He is represented in the Paris salon this year by "Sheep in Snow," and expects to exhibit at the Carnegie institute this fall. One of his paintings was hung on the line at the Pittsburgh exhibition three years ago. Artists speak of his fine tones and strength in handling.

Mr. Borgord has just received word that his "Head of Holland Peasant" was awarded a medal of the third class May 19, by the salon. This is very unusual, as it is the custom to wait several years after the picture is hung before the award is made. He is also represented at the salon by a portrait of himself. Mr. Borgord may also exhibit this fall at the Carnegie institute.

NO EXPLANATION FOR HER SECOND OFFENSE

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—Neither the admiralty nor the foreign office are able to furnish any explanation of the sinking of the British steamer St. Kilda by the Russian auxiliary cruiser Dnieper, for which ambassador Hardinge has already demanded payment, except that it may have been due to the demoralization following Admiral Rojestvensky's defeat, as specific orders were issued a year ago to avoid a repetition of the Knight Commander incident.

NEW AUTOMOBILE BUG IS WITH US

The automobile bug has reached Pittsburgh. It looks like a miniature red devil makes a noise like a jackass and has an odor like gasoline. It is built on the model of an ordinary pinch bug and is almost as big as a robin. It is the newest of all insects and its bite is said to cure tunnelitis.

These facts are gleaned from the conversation of a crowd in Fifth avenue at lunch hour yesterday. One of the new bugs had evidently been exceeding the speed limit and was knocked down into the street. A crowd gathered around it instantly and discussed its peculiarities.

"I wonder what sort of a bug that is?" was the query everybody put to everybody else.

"That's the new automobile bug," spoke up a man with a red nose.

"That's just what I thought," spoke up another man, whose nose was not quite so red. "It does look a little like a red devil."

"'Honk! Honk!' Do you know that noise sounds familiar?" observed another bystander.

"Whew! gasoline," said the inquisitive man who stooped over to look more closely at the intruder.

"We'll send it to Dr. Holland," said the man with spectacles.

"I think it rightfully belongs to the Automobile club," said a serious man.

"Honk! Honk!" And the bug flew away.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR BANKERS' CORPORATION

Complaint Says Funds of Concern Have Been Shamefully and Needlessly Wasted.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—Judge Holt in the United States circuit court today signed an order requiring the directors and officers of the United States Bankers' Corporation of Maine to show cause next Friday why a temporary receiver should not be appointed to assume control of the corporation's business. The court also granted a temporary injunction restraining the company from receiving or paying out money in its possession or disposing of any of its other assets.

The order was granted on the application of Hollis V. Parks, a resident of New York city, the owner of 650 shares of the capital stock of the company, who alleges the assets of the company have been needlessly and shamefully wasted.

The original board of directors consisted of ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, J. Q. A. Brackett, Walter I. Badger, Hollis Parks, E. P. Holdridge, Don F. Curtis, H. B. Leary, M. L. Trevor Lewis and A. T. Morey. Mr. Parks declares that a stockholders' meeting, which was held on June 13 last and at which a new board of directors were elected, was illegal.

BRADDOCK SCHOOL BOARD FIXES TAX LEVY AT 8 MILLS

The Braddock school board met last evening and fixed the tax levy for school purposes at 8 mills, the same as last year. This will provide about $80,000. Miss Jessie Swaney, who was graduated this year from the high school, was elected a cadet teacher. The custom is followed in the Braddock schools of electing four girls from each year's graduating classes. They teach classes in crowded rooms and help generally in the buildings in which they are assigned. The pay is $10 a month, and usually, after a year's experience, they are elected to regular positions if a vacancy occurs.

Valuable Painting for Orphanage.

Col. Lewis T. Brown, formerly of the Carnegie Steel Company, will shortly present St. Paul's Orphan asylum with a costly reproduction of "The Beheading of St. Andrew," one of the art treasures of the vatican at Rome. The painting has just arrived in the city and is at present on view at the home of Col. Brown.

If you are in need of advice and services of a trust company in settlement or management of an estate, The Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Fourth avenue and Wood street, is prepared to give assurances of its ability to satisfactorily and efficiently serve you in any trust capacity.

RUMORS OF GAS RAISE ARE PROMPTLY DENIED

Reports of Meeting to Add Three Cents to the Price.

Rumors were strong yesterday that a conference would be held here today by representatives of the three natural gas companies supplying Pittsburgh and vicinity for the purpose of raising the price to domestic consumers three cents per thousand.

The price under the new schedule would be 20 cents per 1,000 with the usual two cents off for payment by the 20th of each month. The present prices are 27 and 25 cents.

President J. H. Reed of the Philadelphia Company said last evening that while there had been some desire on the part of the natural gas companies to raise the price, nothing definite had been done or attempted and that no meeting had been arranged.

President H. B. Beatty of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Company said that he had no knowledge of such a plan being contemplated for immediate action, although there had been some talk of a raise in the price.

President C. N. Payne of the Peoples Natural Gas Company was in the city last evening, as was E. Strong, the general manager of the Standard Oil Company's natural gas interests. It was said that Daniel O'Day, a Standard Oil official, was also in the city.

SWEDEN WOULD TREAT WITH NORWAY ON DISSOLUTION

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, June 20.—The council of state today adopted a proposition which will be presented to the riksdag tomorrow, refusing to recognize the one-sided dissolution of the union by the storthing but the government asks the riksdag for authority to enter into negotiations with Norway, in order to establish the basis for a dissolution on which both countries can mutually agree and the amicable relations of the two countries be maintained.

BRASSERT RESIGNS HIS POSITION AT BRADDOCK

Henry F. Brassert, for the past five years superintendent of the blast furnaces of the Edgar Thomson works at Braddock, yesterday resigned his position. Cause for the action is not stated. Mr. Brassert will likely connect himself with an independent iron manufacturing company.

Michael Killeen, formerly assistant superintendent at the furnaces, will likely assume the duties performed by Mr. Brassert. Mr. Brassert was one of the men given stock by the Carnegie Steel Company when the "Carnegie Junior Partners" were formed.

BIGELOW GOES TO LARKIN FOR AID

Director Trying to Bring All Possible Influences to Bear on Mr. Frick.

HUMP PLAN CONSIDERED DEAD

Director Bigelow made an appeal yesterday to Controller Larkin to use his influence with H. C. Frick to persuade the latter to change his mind about the hump cut and to sign a waiver of damages based on the reduction of grade as proposed by Director Bigelow. If Director Bigelow, Controller Larkin and other influences cannot induce Mr. Frick to recede from the position set forth in his letter to Director Bigelow the hump project will be dropped, at least during the term of the present city administration. This is the general opinion of city officials and councilmen.

Director Bigelow yesterday held a long conference with Controller Larkin and it is stated that the controller agreed to lend a helping hand. After Mr. Bigelow left his office the controller was asked if he would see Mr. Frick when he comes to the city tomorrow.

"I will see him if he sends for me," said the controller, "and I will tell him that he is making a mistake. It is possible he may agree to a 12 or 13-foot cut."

Director Bigelow has sought the aid of Mr. Larkin because the latter is known to have been very successful in securing favors from Mr. Frick. In the sale of the old cathedral property Mr. Larkin got the handsome commission of $25,000 from Mr. Frick. A few months ago he got a contribution of $5,000 from Mr. Frick for a society of women who are building a bathhouse in Soho.

Only a few weeks ago, when the controller was confronted with the prospect of having no bidders for the filtration bonds, after he had been instrumental in having the rate of interest reduced to a point where the bonds were not attractive to outside or local investors, the controller went to Mr. Frick and the latter agreed to help him out of his dilemma by giving instructions to the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh to take the bonds. These transactions and the fact that Mr. Larkin has been consulted for many years in real estate matters by Mr. Frick is taken by Mr. Bigelow as evidence that possibly Mr. Larkin may be of potential assistance in the hump matter.

Director Bigelow does not look with favor upon the suggestion of the controller that a compromise cut of 12 or 13 feet be adopted. He said that Mr. Frick's large office building would suffer rather than benefit if the cut is made less than 18 feet, because the building was erected for an 18-foot cut and a lower cut would set the basement story of the building in a hole and put the first story above the street, making steps to reach both the basement and first floor from the street a necessity.

"I am not blaming any person for Mr. Frick having changed his mind," said Director Bigelow. "I don't know any more about the matter than you do. I am positive the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had nothing to do with it. The story that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was opposed to it because it might have to rebuild its tunnel is without foundation. Even with the cut I propose there would be plenty of room over the tunnel for water pipes, conduits, etc. I know no more than I did yesterday and I expect to know nothing until Thursday, when I will see Mr. Frick."

"If Mr. Frick stands by his letter and refuses to change his mind to your arguments, will you go ahead and pass the ordinance in councils?" the director was asked.

"I really don't know what I will do," he replied. "I guess councils will adjourn now for the summer."

After Others Had Failed
Wyeth's Cream of Sage and Sulphur Grew This Hair

READ THE PROOF
CLEVELAND, Ohio, May, 4th, 1905
Wyeth' Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y.
Dear Sirs:—
About three years ago my hair began falling out so badly that I dreaded to comb it, as it came out in handfuls and became dry and harsh.
I had used all of the hair restorers that I had read about in the newspapers and tried all the remedies advised by my friends, without any benefit, and was almost in despair when I read about your Cream of Sage and Sulphur in the paper and decided to give it a trial.
In two months time my hair entirely stopped falling out, became soft and glossy, and I now have an abundance of heavy hair, measuring four feet and five inches. It is greatly admired by my friends, and my hairdresser says that it is the finest head of hair she ever dressed.
I feel very grateful to you for saving my hair, and hope that my letter may be the means of benefiting many other people. Yours sincerely,

NATIONAL GAMES TODAY.

Brooklyn at Exposition park.
Philadelphia at Chicago.
New York at Cincinnati.
St. Louis at Boston.

Two of the Pirates' pitchers went to pieces yesterday afternoon and before they could get settled down to their stride the Brooklyn team had piled up enough runs to win any ordinary game. The Visitors secured a cluster of six tallies before they took a breathing spell, and then just to show how good they can be on occasions when things are coming their way, they added three more to their string, making the final count 9 to 2 in their favor.

Charley Case started to do the twirling for the Pirates, but he only lasted for two and one-third innings, and in that time the visitors had piled up four runs off six hits and a base on balls, and in the middle of the third when two runs were already in Manager Clarke wisely shut off the good thing and called Mike Lynch to take up the burden of responsibility. This proved rather a hard job for the big ex-collegian, and before he could get rightly warmed up two more runs were scored on two hits, a single and a two-bagger.

After the third inning Mike was good until the eighth was reached, when three hits were dragged over the plate. It was not altogether Lynch's fault that the Brooklyns were up and doing in the eighth, as the support given him was very ragged. The Pirates seemed to be affected by the sultry weather. Umpire Emslie had some trouble getting the game started as the locals hesitated about coming to the field, and it was past time when the contest began.

The blue ribbon boy of the afternoon was California Jones, the acrobatic youth who serves up benders for the trolley dodgers. This same Jones is what is called an in-and-out pitcher, being good some days and bad others. He was so very good Yesterday the Pirates were unable to do anything with his benders. Jones was given splendid support, particularly by Dobbs in middle field, who had six putouts during the afternoon, and many of them were of the sensational order. One of Dobbs' catches was with his one hand and it robbed Beaumont of a sure three-base hit.

With the opening of the game the visitors started to get runs. One was made in the first inning. Dobbs started things going with a two-base drive to right, and he scored on a fine single by Gessler. Batch started the second inning with a single and went around on a sacrifice by Hall and a single by Jones. In the third was where the balloon went up, and before the side could be retired four runs had been scored as a result of three singles, a double and a base on balls.

After the third inning but one hit was made off Lynch until the eighth, and then the visitors made up for lost time. Hall led off with a single, and Ritter and Jones followed with singles. Fred Clarke helped things along with a wild throw, and Gessler contributed a three-bagger, all of which netted three runs. Two more were added in the fourth inning when Leach led off with a single and got around on a base on balls to Wagner, an error by Maloy and a single and an out at first. Their other run was scored by Wagner when, with two out in the eighth, he singled and scored on a two-base drive by Howard. Clancy was back in his old position, and Howard was in right field owing to the sickness of Clymer, who has gone to Cambridge Springs, and will be out of the game for some days. The score:

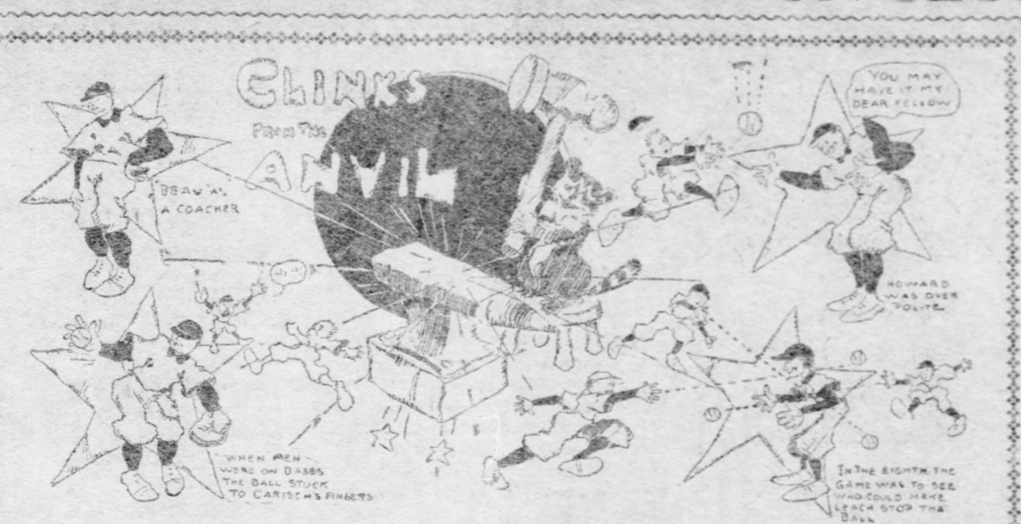
BOSTON, MASS., June 20.—Charles A. Schweppe, chairman of the regatta committee of the Harvard-Yale rowing races at New London, Conn., June 29, announced today that the varsity race would be rowed up the Thames river from New London to Gales Ferry at 4:30 p. m. and not at 6 p. m., as had been previously stated. Official announcement also was made that the four-oared race would be started at 10:30 a. m. at Gales Ferry and rowed down stream two miles to the navy yard, and that the freshman race would be started immediately after at the navy yard, finishing at the bridge at New London.

GALES FERRY, CONN., June 20.—The oarsmen at both the Yale and Harvard quarters here are expecting to see President Roosevelt when he passes through New London on his way to Worcester tomorrow morning. Manager Emerson of the Harvard crew has sent a message to the crew inviting him to stop off at Red Top for breakfast, but a long stay of the chief executive is not expected. The oarsmen will march from quarters to the railroad station at New London to meet the train.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—Interest in the preparations for the interior collegiate regatta to be held June 28 was enhanced today by the arrival of the varsity and freshmen crews of Syracuse university, winners of the two events last year. In addition to the two eights the Syracuse party brought with them a varsity four-oared crew, so they will be represented in all three races.

Opens on St. Patrick's Day.

LOUISVILLE, June 20.—The executive committee of the Louisville tournament association has selected March 17, 1906, as the date for the opening of the National bowling tournament in this city.



Sidelights On Yesterday's Game.

GAMES PLAYED ON THE INDEPENDENT CIRCUIT

WASHINGTON, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—Rain stopped a pretty contest here this afternoon before a commencement crowd, between the Pittsburgh Collegians and W. and J. college. The score was 2 to 0 in favor of the Collegians in the fifth when the rain came down. The Collegians had batted in their fifth and two W. and J. men had been retired and Thounhurst had one strike on Ramsey when Umpire Dick Service called time.

Thounhurst was having a shade the better of Marks in the pitching up to this time. The Collegians scored in the fourth. Pfeifer opened with a home run drive to the left field fence, and Uptegraff hit for two bases to left middle. Don Doyle laid down a bunt, Uptegraff scoring on the "squeeze play." The score:

CONVICT KRUGER IS ACQUITTED

Jury Believes His Counsel's Plea of Self-Defense Without Hearing Defendant.

ALSO ACCEPT GRIEVE'S STORY

Convict Paul Kruger, who was tried on a charge of murdering Charles Turner, a fellow convict in the bakeshop of the Western penitentiary, was acquitted, the jury returning its verdict in about an hour. Kruger was defended by Attorney W. H. McGary, who criticised the district attorney and his assistant, John S. Robb, in a rough-shod manner. The verdict was a big surprise. Kruger's plea was self-defense.

The commonwealth finished its side early in the morning. Deputy Warden J. H. Corbett offered the commitments of the two men in evidence, when it was found that it was Judge McClung who had sent Kruger to the penitentiary five years ago on a charge of larceny. A plan of the building, the knife and dough scraper were also put in evidence.

In opening for the defense Attorney McGary said they would show that Turner attacked Kruger with the dough scraper and that it was a fight for life on Kruger's part.

Twelve convicts were called, who testified that Turner had made threats against Kruger, and that the latter had been advised to inform on Turner. He refused, saying he would try to keep out of Turner's way as he had but a short time to serve and did not want to endanger his commutation. In his speeches to the jury Attorney McGary said the verdict must be first degree or acquittal, and the jury gave him the latter.

Disagrees With Supreme Court.

Judge Brown handed down an opinion yesterday refusing a new trial in the case of A. A. Dinan and his wife against the Catholic Mutual Beneficial association. The suit is to recover on a policy of insurance issued to Charles B. Coll, the father of Mrs. Dinan. It turns solely on whether Coll was 60 years old when he made application for the policy. The case was tried five times, and each time that the court directed a verdict for the defendant the supreme court has sent it back on the ground that Coll's age was a question for a jury to decide.

The testimony showed Coll's application gave his age as 48, while his record of naturalization gave his age as 21 on October 4, 1856, which would have made him 56 when he joined the society. Judge Brown says the verdicts have been for the plaintiff, so after that if a new trial is granted until a verdict is found for the defendant, it would be contrary to little less than binding instructions and this court must be bound by the findings of the supreme court. In discussing the verdict Judge Brown characterized it as "a result from one point of view shocking to every sense of justice and right."

Isaac Saegar was placed on trial in criminal court before Judge Kennedy on a charge of false pretense, made by Andrew Kraynack, a grocer of the South Side. Kraynach secured $3,000 from him by representing that he had purchased a piece of property the day before. It is alleged that in reality the property was bought by Saegar's brother Joseph, whose name was attached to the deed which Saegar showed Kraynack before securing the loan.

Judge Criticises Jury's Finding.

Robert E. Grieve was acquitted on a charge of stealing $2,600 from the safe of the Wabash railroad express office, where he was employed as assistant auditor. Grieve's defense was that he left town the night the money was taken while suffering from the effects of too much liquor and came to his senses in Columbus, O., the following day. In discharging Grieve from custody Judge Evans, before whom the case was tried and who was evidently displeased with the verdict, remarked that Grieve "might not find another jury so easy."

Frank Joy of the Joy Detective agency and John P. Graham, charged with conspiracy, were found guilty but recommended to the mercy of the court. John H. Fisher testified that the two defendants tried to blackmail him, alleging that he had misrepresented matters in the sale of stock of the Sheppard Manufacturing Company.

Sentence was suspended by Judge Kennedy in the case of Rudolph H. Shaffer, formerly captain of Company L, Eighteenth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania who was convicted of embezzling $900 of the funds of the company. In suspending sentence Judge Kennedy gave Schaffer a lecture and said the suspended sentence would be held over him pending his good behavior.

Frank Dabech was found guilty of felonious assault in stabbing Milica Troberich at Blair station in January and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Divorces Refused and Granted.

Common Pleas Court No. 1 refused two decrees in divorce because the charges of desertion brought were not supported by the testimony. The cases were those of Sadie Morgan against Alexander Morgan and Lizzie M. Helms against Clayton P. Helms. Decrees were granted in the following cases: William Poindexter against Harriet Poindexter, infidelity, the respondent being forbidden to marry Paul Rosé during the lifetime of the libellant; Maud Guthrie Small against Harry B. Small, desertion; Lulu Delaney against Samuel Delaney, on ground that he was convicted of burglary; Margaret L. White against Harry S. White, desertion; Julia O'Brien against John O'Brien, infidelity; Marie E. Hunter against William W. Hunter, cruelty.

Sarah Ingram, a widow by her will disposed of a $45,000 estate, providing that after five years the bulk of the estate goes to her son, Thomas. Among the beneficiaries under the will is her attorney, J. H. Harper, who is given $500. Similar amounts are given to Mrs. Annie McDonough and St. Peter's Episcopal church, while Elizabeth Marshall, a niece, is given $250. A grandson, Thomas Ingram, is given $8,000. The balance of the estate is left in trust for five years for her son.

Mrs. M. A. Snyder elected to take against the will of her husband, who left an $18,000 estate to his son with the exception of that sum the law allows her. She took out letters of administration on the estate.

Trial Without a Jury.

Judge Buffington heard a case in United States circuit court without a jury. The case, which is brought by the Accident Accident and Guarantee Company against the Kenefick Company, involves $7,000 and is still on trial. The plaintiff insured the employes of the defendant against accident, basing the rate on the payroll and the character of men employed. The plaintiff alleges the defendant turned over an incorrect payroll.

Judge Macfarlane dismissed the exceptions filed to the decree of the court in the suit of the residents of Brushton against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The action was an equity suit brought to restrain the railroad from removing its station at Brushton, in which the court refused the injunction.

Joseph M. Brennan entered a suit against Fowina D. Morrow asking $10,000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of Stella Brennan, wife of the plaintiff. A capias was issued for Morrow's arrest. The parties to the suit live in McKees Rocks and Brennan says his wife is but 21 years old, while the defendant is twice her age.

Celestia Gwynn, who has a case pending against J. H. Fisher of the Shepherd Manufacturing Company to recover on a note and check given her, has filed a suit against the Shepherd Manufacturing Company to recover on a note drawn for $406 and asks $1,000 additional as damages.

Wants the Note Paid.

She avers that the company gave its note for $406 to John H. Fisher, who endorsed it to J. W. Nesbitt, who in turn endorsed it to the plaintiff. She alleges that although requested many times the company has not yet paid the note.

Executions issued: Oliver O. Phillips vs. M. Goslin, $134.96; B. H. Voskamp & Sons vs. Frederick Kalchelo, $778.05.

The following true bills were returned: Conspiracy, Thomas Davis et al; felonious assault, Cornelius Gilliday; aggravated assault and battery, Constantine Barget Christian Hoffarth; false pretense, G. H. Gray, H. H. Soringer; entering a building, John Penn; perjury, L. M. Marshall; nuisance, Albert Sauer; larceny, A. Brunlow, G. E. Calhoun, Frank Nickale; larceny by bailee, Carrie Pritpen, J. H. Fisher; assault and battery, Guy Scott, Frank Sexton, Carrie Barker, Harry Doyle, Patrick Driscoll, Emma Miller, Andrew Martin et al, John Rode; malademeanor, S. R. Eechm, Stewart Dickson, William Scott.

No Testimony in Shuff Case.

Certain legal questions in the suit of John L. Shuff against the Grant and Liberty Street Railway Company will have to be determined by the court before any testimony will be taken by Commissioner H. D. Gamble. A number of witnesses have been called, but no evidence has been given. Among the witnesses were directors and stockholders called for the purpose of showing they were "dummy" directors. They were advised not to answer because the legality of the company's charter had not been questioned. If is said Shuff will be produced as a witness when desired by his attorneys.

FALL FROM CAR CAUSE OF DEATH

Mrs. Margaret R. Richardson, Mother of Cashier of Cosmopolitan Bank, Dies.

MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILIES

Attracted by the sudden stopping of a big Western avenue car on which he was riding on the front platform, David J. Richardson, cashier of the Cosmopolitan National bank of Pittsburgh, looked back and saw his aged mother, Mrs. Margaret Rebecca Richardson, lying in Allegheny avenue, near Beech avenue, Allegheny. Mrs. Richardson had fallen from the rear platform of the car and the injuries she received caused her death at her son's home, Bidwell and Abdell streets, Allegheny, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. Richardson had been on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Emma P. Swearer, in the East End, on Monday, and was returning home about 11 p. m. Mr. Richardson was also in Pittsburgh Monday night and took the same car as his mother, but was not aware she was on the car, as she had boarded it from the rear platform, while he got on by the front entrance and had remained on the platform.

When Mr. Richardson saw his mother lying in Allegheny avenue he recognized her dress. Aside from a small cut on the left temple, Mrs. Richardson did not seem to be injured, and her son took her by the arm and assisted her up Abdell street, walking toward their home.

Suddenly Aroused from a Doze.

She told him that the warm atmosphere caused her to become drowsy after she boarded the car and she fell into a doze. When the car turned into Allegheny avenue she was suddenly aroused by the conductor calling out Beech avenue, at which point she always left the car. She jumped up, and, thinking the car had stopped, stepped off the platform and was thrown violently to the asphalt-paved street.

After walking a short distance Mrs. Richardson began to tremble and then collapsed completely. Mr. Richardson ran to the house and called his brother, Joseph H. Richardson, and the two men carried their mother home and seated her in a rocking chair on the front porch, where restoratives were administered. Mrs. Richardson remained conscious, but was greatly weakened from the shock caused by the fall. After she became somewhat composed, the sons carried their mother to her room and placed her in bed.

About 1 a. m. Joseph H. Richardson went down stairs and told his brother he was worried about their mother's appearance. Mr. Richardson went upstairs to see her and at once called a physician, as he feared his mother was dying.

Human Aid Was Unavailing.

After an examination the physician announced that nothing could be done to save her life, as a blood vessel in the brain had broken when she fell.

Mrs. Richardson was a member of one of the oldest families in Western Pennsylvania. She was a daughter of David Robinson and Jane Hudson Robinson and was born in Temperanceville (now West End) in 1840. She was married to William J. Richardson July 13, 1858. Mr. Richardson was for two terms register of wills in Allegheny county during the civil war period. He died about 38 years ago, while serving his second term in that office. Mr. Richardson was offered the consulship to Brazil by President Lincoln, but declined the appointment at the request of his wife.

Mrs. Richardson's paternal great-grandfather served in the war of 1812, and for his services to his country he received a grant of 150 acres in Missouri. Mrs. Richardson's ancestors were pioneer settlers in the West End district and owned all the land now included in that section, extending to Carnegie.

Gave Name to Robinson Township.

Robinson township, which is part of the land formerly belonging to her father's family, is named for the Robinson family. Many of her relatives still reside on land on which the Robinson family first settled. Her ancestors were charter members of the West End Methodist Episcopal church, and Mrs. Richardson continued to hold her membership in that congregation till her death.

Mrs. Richardson is survived by two sons, David J. and Joseph H. Richardson; two sisters, Mrs. Mary J. Richardson of Allegheny and Mrs. Emma P. Swearer of the East End; a brother, H. J. Robinson, clerk of the Federal courts in Durant, Indian territory. John Richardson of Sewickley is her last surviving brother-in-law.

Funeral services will be held over Mrs. Richardson's remains at her late home at 2 p. m. to-morrow. The Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo, pastor of the Eighth Presbyterian church, West End, who has officiated at the funerals of nearly all of Mrs. Richardson's relatives, will officiate. Dr. Donehoo will be assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Thoburn, Jr., pastor of Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, and the Rev. Dr. John U. Evers, pastor of Trinity Methodist Protestant church, Allegheny. Interment will be made in the Mansfield cemetery, near Carnegie, in which her ancestors were the first to be buried.

RICH HARVEST FOR ALL.

Double trading stamps again will be given to all customers by Weisser, Low & Co., the Market street drygoods firm, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

This is a wonderful opportunity when you think of the low prices of the goods. And you are entitled to purchase anything you please—double trading stamps are given during these three days in every department.

The great success Weisser's had at their last sale when double trading stamps were given warrants a repetition. Many persons were unable to take advantage of the opportunity, and they were not slow complaining about it.

Persons who had long been customers thought they should have an opportunity with others to get double trading stamps. Now the opportunity is here. There will be a bigger rush than there was the last time, but Weisser's are prepared for it.

Weisser, Low & Co. have made special arrangements with Sperry & Hutchinson, proprietors of the original trading stamp system, whereby double trading stamps may be given for the three days this week.

Everybody knows this trading stamp firm, Sperry & Hutchinson, has a larger list of fine premiums than any other trading stamp firm in America, and its trading stamps are more in demand than ever by reason of its wide range of premiums. Almost everything you can conceive of in the way of household articles are given as premiums.

It is rare indeed that the public has an opportunity like this afforded by Weisser, Low & Co. We advise everyone who ever has need of anything in the drygoods line, women's apparel, women's outer and under garments, umbrellas, men's furnishings, etc., to come as early as possible. SOCIETY

EXQUISITE decorations, bewitchingly dainty gowns and unusually beautiful music marked the wedding of Miss Helen Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dickson's daughter and Benjamin Dangerfield, Jr., yesterday afternoon. The wedding took place in Christ Methodist Episcopal church at 5 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., being assisted in performing the ceremony by the Rev W. H. W. Reese, pastor of the Smithfield street Methodist Episcopal church. The bridal procession was an interesting one, and was led by the ushers, Frank Dickson, Lee H. Marshall, John T. Moore, William M. Parkin, Alexander Murdoch and Charles L. Hamilton. Following them marched the bridesmaids, Miss Alice Dangerfield, Miss Florence Dangerfield, Miss Marguerite Scott and Miss Frances Taylor, the last of Philadelphia. Mrs. Robert W. Downing, the bride's sister and matron of honor, and the little flower girl, Miss Roberta Downing, immediately preceded the bride, who entered on the arm of her father. Harry Dangerfield was his brother's best man. The bride was gowned in beautiful creation of white chiffon cloth with yoke and berths of duchesse point lace. The skirt was finished with a narrow band and ruffle of the same. A tulle veil, fastened with orange blossoms, was worn, and the only jewels were a string of pearls and a diamond and pearl pin, Mr. Dangerfield's gift. The bridal bouquet was a shower of white roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Downing's gown was a Paris model fashioned of white colienne and lace. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas, showered, and wore a hat of Neapolitan straw trimmed with pink roses. The maids, in gowns of white organdie and valenciennes lace, had Neapolitan hats of white, trimmed with pink rosebuds, a cluster of which caught the long maline streamers hanging down the back. Little Miss Downing was entirely in white, her frock being of Paris muslin and valenciennes lace and her hat, a lace affair trimmed with pink roses and ribbons. She carried a hat filled with pink sweet peas.

A small reception at the bride's home in North Negley avenue followed the church ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Dangerfield will sail for Europe aboard the Minnetonka on Saturday and will be at home in this city after September 1.

Poster Tableau a Feature.

The crowning feature of the bazar of days given yesterday for the benefit of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Kindergarten association was the poster tableaux given continuously after 7 o'clock in the evening. Miss Euphemia Bakewell, Mrs. Frank T. Fogg, Mrs. H. G. Lloyd, Houston Tilt and Mrs. Crocker composed the committee in charge of the tableaux, which were as follows: Catalogue of Posters—Clifton Phillips (C. F. Peardon); Meadow Gold Butter—Mrs. Latimer Small Macon; Harper's April, Charles Webb (Edward Penfield); Alcazar d'Ete, Miss Mary Campbell (Chret); Hanef Champagne, Miss Georgie Gormley (Walter Crane); Hamlet, Frank McKnight (Beggarstaff); Harper's May, Miss Margaret Whitehead (Edward Penfield); Van Houton's Cocoa, Mrs. Herbert Jaggard (Willett); Collier's Weekly, Miss Phillips Ireland Henry; Miss Jane Bennett (Iels); Becket, Latimer Small Macon (Beggarstaff); Pate Dentifrice, Miss Edith Arundel (Butet de Monvel); Gold calendar, D. H. Wallace; Gaiety Girl, Miss Penlope Whitehead (Dudley Hardy); Harper's June, Harrison W. Carver (Edward Penfield); Mirabelle, Miss Marion Guthrie (Cheret); August Century, Miss Margaret Peed (Lewendecker); America, Mrs. Harrison W. Craver (C. D. Gibson). In addition to the posters the various booths and other attractions were all well patronized through the day and evening. There were the supper tables, the ice cream tables, the magician, and swings and sand piles for the children. The lemonade booth was hung in yellow and decked with crepe paper oranges and leaves. The rainbow booth at which toys were disposed of was one of the prettiest, and exceedingly attractive was the dairy which was presided over by dainty maids in dairy costume. The poppy garden was also a feature of that portion of the lawn, while on the other side were the booths representing the different days of the week. All sorts of laundry bags, toy tubs and other things pertaining to wash day were sold at the Monday booth; Tuesday was counted the universal day for mending bags and cases filled the Wednesday booth, while a variety of articles were sold from the Thursday booth where the children were much interested in a Jack Horner pie. The Friday booth with its bright and tempting array of fruits was particularly attractive and not less was Saturday booth whose four counters were filled with delicious pies, cakes and bread.

Aylesworth-France.

Immediately after their wedding last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. France left the city for an eastern trip, at the conclusion of which they will be at home with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. France, in Western avenue, Allegheny. The bride was Miss Helen Louise Aylesworth, a daughter of Mrs. Allison Aylesworth of Avery street, Allegheny, and the ceremony was performed at 5:30 o'clock in the Sandusky Street Baptist church by the Rev. Dr. F. F. Woodburn officiating, assisted by the Rev. David S. Kennedy. Charles B. Aylesworth gave his sister away, while attending her was a sister, Miss Annie Aylesworth. Mr. France had as his best man Webster Hinnan. The ushers, James B. Haines, III., Chester Balzell, Thomas P. Fleeson, Jr., Herbert Holloway, Walter Zieg and Herbert Hutchinson, completed the bridal party. White chiffon cloth formed the bride's gown, and her flowers were white orchids and lillies of the valley. Orange blossoms caught and fastened the tulle veil. The maid of honor was gowned in pale green mousseline, with trimmings of duchesse lace and carried an armful of white peonies. After September 1 the bridal couple will take possession of their new home, which is now being erected in Bellevue.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Open Fresh Air Home.

The Allegheny Fresh Air Home in Glenfield was formally opened yesterday. A number of the officers and members of the board of managers and their friends went down for the day to open the house and receive the first party of visitors. These included a dozen babies, the youngest being only 7 months old, and 15 old ladies. Some of the babies were accompanied by their mothers, but still there was plenty of room in the two houses which constitute the home, one being used for the women and the other for the children. There are accommodations for 100, and the parties which will be taken down every 10 days after the close of school will tax the capacity of the place. The women and babies are usually lodged in the older house, while three large dormitories are arranged in the newer building. The opening yesterday was attended with no formal exercises, but when the kindergarten teacher goes down the first of July to remain throughout the summer the children will have occasional exercises and drills for the visitors at the institution.

The home has been newly papered this season and other changes have been made to improve its appearance, though no material alterations have been made. The home stands in the midst of 14 acres of ground donated for the purpose by Mrs. Harry Darlington, to whom it will revert should it be used for any other purpose. The late Mrs. Robert McKnight of Kilbuck, Western avenue, Allegheny, was the first president of the board of managers. The present president, Mrs. William C. Robinson, succeeded Miss Willis Forsyth two years ago. Last year Mrs. Darlington gave a horse and wagonette which are used to carry the older people from the Glenfield station, which is a mile away from the home. This year a telephone will be added to the necessary equipment of the place. The officers of the board of managers include: Mrs. William C. Robinson, president; Miss Mary Gorman, vice president; Miss Emma Forsyth, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Phillips, secretary.

Open Distributing Stations.

The first summer distributing station of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Sterilized Milk and Ice association will be opened this morning for duty. It is located in King's mission, West Robinson street, Allegheny. In a day or two the second station in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church chapel in Fourth avenue will be in operation. Arrangements have also been made for the distribution of ice at the Robinson street station, the supply being kept up according to the demand. The association has already secured about $2,000, and as soon as its funds warrant the enlargement of the work other stations will be opened, one on Herron Hill being now contemplated. It will be located near but not in the Columbian Council school in Center avenue. The distributing stations are being located under the direction of Mrs. W. G. Bishop, the treasurer of the association.

Yesterday morning circulars were issued making an appeal to the public for contributions. The association has no intention this year of purchasing a sterilising plant, because of the expense. It wishes instead to put all the contributions into the distribution of milk and ice to the poor. The officers of the association are Mrs. Enoch Rauh, president; Miss Yetta Baumgarten, first vice president; Dr. Laura G. Strom, second vice president; Mrs. W. G. Bishop, treasurer; Mrs. Florence R. Wade, secretary; Dr. Amelia A. Granga, medical director.

Looking Forward to Bridge Tournament.

Over 50 acceptances were received by Mrs. O. D. Thompson before last evening for the women's bridge tournament, which will be conducted this afternoon in the Edgeworth clubhouse. A great many handsome prizes have been contributed and will be awarded in each section of the players. A number of women expect to go down this afternoon and others who wish to enter the tournament may pay the entrance fee of $1, at the clubhouse this afternoon. The tournament will be given for the benefit of the Juvenile Court association under the direction of Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. Richard R. Quay, Mrs. Arthur B. Starr and Mrs. Oliver D. Thompson.

Will Elect Probation Officer.

A meeting of the executive board of the Juvenile Court Aid society has been called for today when a probation officer will be decided upon. The Juvenile Court Aid society was only organized last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Rauh in Fairfield street. It has a membership of nearly 100, from whom contributions of from $1 to $10 have been received. It will finance its own work, supporting a probation officer who will work among the Jewish children brought before the Juvenile court and will be affiliated with the older Juvenile Court association.

Open Meeting of Men's Club.

The semi-annual open meeting of the Men's club of the Third United Presbyterian church, Ridge avenue, Allegheny, last evening was also ladies' night. An interesting program was presented, prominent in which was the cantata, "The New Life," the singers being Miss Elizabeth McNally, Miss Olive Wheat, Mrs. Edith Harris-Scott, Mrs. Harvey S. Rouse, Nathan B. Yaillie, Ernest C. Chidlaw, Thomas J. Thomas, John R. Bergstresser and Will Pearson.

Anniversary Picnic Today.

The annual picnic which this year will commemorate the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the Home for the Widows and Orphans of Odd Fellows in Ben Avon will be held today in Luna park. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the affair, which will be attended by members of the order from different parts of Western Pennsylvania.

In the Oil Fields

Very few completions are reported from the lower southwest fields, and none but the most ordinary producers. The Yellow Creek district, in Calhoun county, continues to lead in the operations and the average size of the producing well. In this district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the Clark-Camden farms through the Berea grit and has a show for a 50-barrel producer. Near the headwaters of Big Root creek, in the same county, the Lowther-Kauffman Oil and Gas Company have drilled their test on the J. W. Wetz farm through the Berea grit and have a duster. This is purely a wildcat, located about 200 feet southwest of the same company's test on the C. J. Thomas farm, which came in a duster.

Near Akron, Ellsworth district, Tyler county, the Tri-State Gas Company has drilled its test on the Grant Warner farm through the Big injun sand and has a very large gasser. In the Fellow Creek district the South Penn Oil Company's Nos. 3 and 4 on the Rose L. Normal farm are producing 100 and 150 barrels a day. The Carter Oil Company's No. 2, L. G. Fluharty and No. 2, J. E. Snyder farms, are producing 120 and 100 barrels respectively. The last named was given a shot. The Aleco Oil and Gas Company's No. 2 on the Michael Knight farm is producing 100 barrels a day. In the Garner district, Marshall county, the South Penn Oil Company's No. 1 on the B. J. Van Scoyoc farm and No. 2 on the John Chapman farm are producing 111 and 80 barrels a day respectively. In the Milton district, the 15 wells in the producing list have an aggregate production of 160 barrels a day.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has given its No. 3 on the W. T. S. Hutson farm a shot in the Gordon and it produced 20 barrels the first 18 hours. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the same company has drilled its No. 2 on the Ealis Norris farm through the stray sand and four feet into the Gordon and has developed no oil or gas. North of Fairview, Marion county, the same company has succeeded in drilling past the tools lost in its No. 18 on the Haught-Walker farm.

On the Ohio side, in the Graysville district, Monroe county, Shear & Co. have completed a test on the John Steel farm and have a 5-barrel pumper in the Berea grit. In the same district, the Buckeye Oil and Gas Company has drilled its No. 12 on the Bradford Gray farm through the same formation and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper. The last named well makes it rather promising for the development of a Berea grit pool.

In the Burgettstown development, in Washington county, R. G. Gillespie has completed his No. 7 on the G. M. Cameron farm and has a 10-barrel pumper. No. 8 on the same farm has been drilled into the sand and is showing for 100 barrels an hour. Mitchell & Homewood, Beaver county, Holmes & Vannoy have drilled their test on the Hunter farm through all sands, including the Berea grit, and have a duster.

CAPT. GRAHAM'S GRATITUDE

Suffered from Sores on Face and Back—Doctors Took His Money but Did No Good—Skin Now Looks Clear as a Baby's.

ANOTHER CURE BY CURTICURA REMEDIES

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it."

STILL ANOTHER CURE

Neck Covered With Sores, Hair Fell Out, Wild With Itching.

Mr. H. J. Spalding of 104 W. 104th St., New York city, says: "For two years my neck was covered with sores, the disease spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the soreness, inflammation and merciless itching made me wild. After a few applications of Cuticura the torment subsided, the sores disappeared, and my hair grew thick and healthy as ever."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura, which cured me in six months. (Signed) M. C. Moss, Gainesville, Tex."

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Props.

STOCK MARKET IMPROVED IN TRADING AND PRICES

Steel Preferred the Strongest of the Industrials. Sewer Pipe and Pittsburgh Coal Stocks Lower on the Local Board.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was improvement in the New York stock market yesterday, both in the amount of business and the course of prices. This improvement was without the aid of London, where prices averaged slightly lower and the sales for foreign account probably did not exceed 5,000 shares. The final prices were not in all instances at the highest of the day, but gains predominated, and professional traders felt encouraged.

The strongest of the industrials was United States Steel. The common advanced to 28⅝ and the preferred to 90⅝, and both closed at practically the top. A better demand was reported for finished products, with a correspondingly firmer tone for pig iron, and one of the largest independent makers reported that new orders so far in June exceeded by 20 per cent the deliveries on old contracts. Furthermore, it was said that specifications were being rendered more promptly. Wall street probably paid less attention to these reports, however, than to a cable from St. Petersburg, which repeated a story current there to the effect that the Baltic shipyards had been or would be leased to the United States Steel Corporation for a term of 10 years. There was no confirmation of this report here, but traders inferred that the move foreshadowed large operations in connection with the rehabilitation of the Russian navy, in which American manufacturers would have a large part. Tennessee Coal and Iron advanced nearly 2 per cent on the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend, and Colorado Fuel and Iron closed a point higher. Amalgamated Copper was firm and closed at an advance of 1 per cent, as did also Smelting, the regular dividends on which were declared.

Under the lead of Illinois Central, which closed 2¼ per cent higher for the day, all the granger stocks were firm and higher on a moderate increase in business. Despite the advance in wheat and corn late in the day, the government's weekly bulletin reported favorable progress for the crops during the past week, with the yield of winter wheat in the southwestern section a little larger than previous estimates. The weather in the spring wheat belt is not as favorable as could be desired, but no serious drawback has yet occurred. In addition to these crop prospects, gross earnings of the western railroads are being well maintained, which contributes to the more confident feeling regarding the future of prices.

The Pennsylvania group was steady to firm with the exception of Reading. The latter advanced during the early session, but later on sales of about 15,000 shares by one prominent house the stock sold off and closed at a net loss of ¼ per cent. While this selling was in progress a rumor was started that at the directors' meeting today the dividend would not be changed, but there was no foundation for this rumor, and the general expectation is that Reading will be placed upon a 4 per cent basis today. However, 95⅞@96 for 3 4 per cent common stock looks high by comparison with some others. Possibly this view has been taken by traders who are short of the stock, and if the short interest is large the market is liable to temporarily disregard intrinsic values.

The traction stocks continued fairly active and firm. Metropolitan Street Railway closed 1⅜ per cent higher, Metropolitan Securities ½ and Brooklyn Rapid Transit ¼ higher. The last named at one time sold up to 66¼, but reacted at the close.

The money market remained dull and easy, call loans closing offered at 2 per cent.

On the local stock exchange there was also an increase in business, but prices were irregular and closed lower. Pittsburgh Coal common declined 1½ per cent to 17 and the preferred lost 1 per cent, selling at 73. Both closed at the lowest prices of the day. American Sewer Pipe declined 1¼ per cent to 36¼, and closed offered at that price, the weakness apparently being based upon the declaration of the usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, whereas an increase was looked for. Fire Proofing preferred was the most active stock and closed a shade higher at 34½. There were no transactions in Westinghouse Electric, although the directors declared the usual quarterly dividends of 2½ per cent on both classes of stock. Air Brake was also without sale and closed at 142½ bid. United States Steel stocks were strong and closed at the top. Crucible preferred also closed a fraction higher. Pittsburgh Brewing common was higher at 26⅝, the preferred a fraction lower at 46¾, and the bonds at 114½. Independent Brewing bonds were unchanged at 107⅜. There were no transactions in any of the oil and gas stocks and prices closed nominally unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

With transactions on the New York stock exchange yesterday more than double those for the day before, and with a further general advance in prices, traders were considerably encouraged. It was said that the great bulk of the dealings was for account of professional traders, but at the same time it was admitted that several pools that have been doing nothing for more than a week were active yesterday, and the fact that the greatest gains were in investment stocks was cited as evidence of improvement in investment sentiment. The strength of United States Steel was not without good effect upon sentiment, for this stock is still looked upon as a barometer of market conditions. The market has given clear evidence for several days of a hard undertone. The volume of offerings has been almost nothing and no liquidation is induced by any professional pressure. The assertion is made and evidently credited among professional operators that the holdings of stocks by commission houses at this time are at an unusually low ebb and that weekly margined holdings have been almost completely cleared up. The technical strength of such a position makes the market invulnerable to ordinary attack. The eagerness of the professionals to see prices move in one direction or the other prompts them always to follow the line of least resistance. They were inclined yesterday to put prices up until the weight of offerings attracted by the advance should prove an obstacle.

Realizing in Reading was very manifest and this fact was a palpable check to the operations for the advance. Some general effect on sentiment was produced also by the realizing in the Japanese bonds, as these have been the real leaders of the small speculation for some time past. Probably the weekly crop bulletin of the weather bureau was as much responsible as any other one thing for the advancing tendency of prices. The reports on the corn and cotton crops were especially cheerful and railroads having a large percentage of traffic in those commodities were helped accordingly.

The retention of the 1 per cent dividend rate on Tennessee Coal and Iron was accepted as an index of favorable conditions in the southern iron industry. There was also some renewal of gossip of an intended increase in the Louisville & Nashville dividend rate.

The reason assigned for the strength in the Metropolitan stocks is the increased financial influence and authority assured to the leading financier in those corporations by his connection with the Equitable Life Assurance society.

The American Sewer Pipe directors declared the usual quarterly dividend of ¾ of 1 per cent, payable July 1 to stock of record June 24. The decline in the stock to-day was due to disappointment that the dividend was not increased.

Explanation for the dullness and reactionary tendency in Pittsburgh Coal stocks is furnished by the statement filed by the company with its application for the listing of the remainder of the authorized issue on the New York stock exchange. In this statement it is said that the $2,575,300 preferred and $3,250,400 common, par value, had been sold pursuant to a resolution of the board of directors passed at a meeting held April 17, and subsequently passed upon by the executive committee of the board of directors May 13, three days after the stock had been originally listed in New York. The stock was sold for the purpose, to quote the words of the application to list, "for the purpose of acquiring additional working capital which will be used in extending the general operations of the company, particularly in the mining and carrying of coal on the docks of the company located on the great lakes." The entire amount authorized, being $32,000,000 common and $22,000,000 preferred, is now outstanding, and the absorption of 29,163 shares preferred and 32,904 shares common put out under the resolution referred to has gone far toward filling the investment and speculative demand for the stock. The total dividend requirements to pay 7 per cent on the $32,000,000 preferred now amount to $2,240,053 per annum, an increase of $105,341 over last year.

The directors of the Real Estate Trust Company of Pittsburgh, at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon, declared the usual 2½ per cent dividend on the capital stock of $2,000,000. The dividend will amount to $50,000, making the aggregate sum of the dividends paid since January 1, 1902, $840,000.

The Merchants Savings and Trust Company has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable July 19 to stock of record June 30.

Under Secretary Shaw's second call on the banks due to be paid July 15 there has been paid in $2,883,000, leaving to be paid between now and July 15 $12,252,500.

The directors of the American Woolen Company have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable July 15 to stock of record July 1. This makes the twenty-fifth consecutive quarterly dividend paid by the company on its preferred stock amounting to $43 75 per share or $3,700,000 in the aggregate.

American Cement directors have declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable July 21 to stockholders of record July 8.

Allegheny & Western's regular 3 per cent semi-annual dividend is payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 21.

Big Four regular quarterly 1¼ per cent dividend will be paid July 20 to preferred stockholders of record June 30.

The directors of the Westinghouse Electric Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on the preferred, assenting and non-assenting stocks, payable July 10. Books close June 26 and reopen July 11.

Directors of the American Smelting Company declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common and 1¾ per cent on the preferred.

The Tennessee Coal and Iron Company's regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the common stock is payable August 1 to stock of record July 18.

An extra dividend of the unusually large amount of 120 per cent, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 per cent, has been declared by the directors of the Fifth Avenue bank of New York city. The extra dividend, which the stockholders will receive, is out of the profits of the bank in 1903 and 1904.

The United States Coal and Coke Company, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel Corporation, is preparing for an extensive exploitation of the coking industry in West Virginia. It already controls about 25 per cent of the available coke oven capacity and by the end of the year will probably control 35 per cent. It now has seven coke plants and about 2,000 ovens. The growth of the coke industry in West Virginia is shown in the following figures of production: In 1899, 238,450 tons; 1900, 2,466,167 tons; 1904, 2,276,451 tons.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable July 1.

Foreign money markets eased off and the result was the reappearance of bankers' exchange bills in the New York market incident to the process of lending foreign funds here. The full amount of funds for call loans continued very abundant, but the tone for time loans is hardening. Attention was attracted to the compilation of conditions of national banks reported to the comptroller as of May 25th. The changes from March 16 in the loans, individual deposits and the percentages of legal reserve are both important, but compared with June 3 of last year there is shown a growth in deposits of $471,218,653 and an expansion of loans of $304,156,861, while the percentage of legal reserve to deposits has shrunk from 23.07 to 21.63.

The directors of the American Locomotive Company will meet this week to declare the regularly quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock. The dividend will probably be payable July 21 to stockholders of record on June 30. There is not the slightest indication that the directors will even consider the matter of inaugurating dividends on the common stock at this meeting. The company's fiscal year closes June 30 and the annual report will be forthcoming during August.

Under the reorganization plan, the charter of the New Orleans Railway and Light Company is published, showing a capital stock of $31,000,000, divided into $15,000,000 preferred and $20,000,000 common stock. The charter also provides for the issuing of $30,000,000 of 50-year gold bonds, bearing 4½ per cent interest, payable semi-annually.

Tennessee Coal and Iron has taken orders for 65,000 tons of rails for 1906 delivery.

Subscriptions for the new common stock of Big Four will not be received by the Vanderbilt management after the close of business July 8. Stockholders who fail to exercise their rights within the time will forfeit them. A special meeting of stockholders will be held in Cincinnati at noon tomorrow. Their action is perfunctory, as assent to the increase in the common stock from $23,700,000 to $40,000,000 has already been given. The $3,700,000 new stock which the company is to retain in the treasury is to be subject to the action of the board. It is probable that most of it will eventually go into improvements and extensions.

Members of the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks have chartered Island Queen and will make a trip up the Monongahela this evening.

High-Class Securities.

Water works bonds are an especially sound investment of recognized merit. The speculative element is nowhere present in securities of such high-class, and they are therefore largely sought by the conservative investor—the man who prefers absolute security with a return not to exceed 5 per cent. The Municipal and Corporation Securities Company, Bank for Savings Building, Pittsburgh, has recently issued a very interesting booklet on the subject of "Water Works Bonds" that will be read with interest by those seeking high-class investments of this character. It is free for the asking.

LOWER FLOUR AND MORE COSTLY SUGAR IN SIGHT

Wholesale Grocers Look for Sharp Advance in Sugars in a Few Days.

Lower priced flour and higher priced sugars is what the wholesale grocers of Pittsburgh are prophesying before the close of the week. The flour market was decidedly weaker yesterday, while the sugar market was much firmer and sugars were in good demand. The opening of the canning season is responsible for this. In another week or two it will be in full swing. The consumer will be purchasing and just now wholesalers and retailers are laying in stocks, which accounts for the firmer feeling in the market in advance.

The green goods, fruit and produce markets show a decided improvement this week. Fruits especially are looking up. Lemons have advanced and it looks like a $5 market an these. There is an abundance of raspberries in town and the price has dropped considerably. Southern dewberries are plentiful and good prices are being realized. Blackberries are scarce. Cherries are plentiful, but not so much so as was expected a week or two ago. The price is still in the neighborhood of $1.25 a basket of about 16 quarts. Deducting the stems, which the consumer has to do, this makes quite expensive cherries. Produce in general is cheaper than it was a week ago and summer prices are beginning to come in sight.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 22 cars hay, 13 cars oats, 6 cars corn, 6 cars feed, 1 car straw; Baltimore & Ohio, 9 cars hay, 3 cars straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 12 cars hay, 2 cars oats.

The hay situation is still in the dumps and prices were marked down again yesterday. Shippers are now making any money at present prices and advices are that hay is being shipped from this city to other markets. This is expected to soon cause a reaction. Oats are firm and corn is scarce. Middlings and bran are both weaker and cheaper. Straw is easy, rather more of it than wanted.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 20.—A quieter tone prevails in the wool market, but prices are as firm as ever. Many of the new wools are at hand and higher quotations are not expected. Dealers generally expect that the present high prices will be sustained for a considerable period. New territory wools have sold within some freedom, while the call for crossbreds has declined. The old pulled wools have been practically all sold. Foreign wools are firm. The range in this market is about as follows: Ohio and Pennsylvania fine and above, 25@26c; X, 32@34c; No. 1, 41@42c; 12@14-blood unwashed, 27@28c; quarter blood unwashed, 25@26c; three-eighth blood, 25c; half blood, 25c; unwashed Delaine, 29@30c; unmerchantable, 32@33c; fine washed Delaine, 28@29c; Michigan fine unwashed, 26c; quarter blood unwashed, 23@24c; three-eighth blood, 23@24c; half blood, 20@21c; unwashed fine, 17@18c; Kentucky, Indiana, etc., three-eighth and one-quarter blood, 20@21c. Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points following disappointing European cables. Sales were reported of 45,250 bags, including July at 6 20@6 35c; September, 6 40@6 50c; October, 6 50@6 60c; December, 6 65@6 80c; March, 6 80@6 90c; May, 6 85@7 00c. WHEAT CLOSES AT DAY'S HIGHEST POINT

Wet Weather in the Northwest Induces Active Buying by the Shorts—Corn Is Also Up.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—Wet weather in the northwest induced active buying by shorts in the wheat pit here today. A report that France will be a heavy importer of American wheat augmented the demand. The market closed practically at the highest point of the day, with July up 1½@1¾c. Corn is up 1¾c. Oats show a gain of 1@c. Provisions are down 7½@10c.

With the exception of a slightly easier tone at the opening the wheat market was strong the entire session. A decline at Liverpool created some disposition here to sell at the start. As a result July was off a shade to ⅛@⅛c at 83⅝@83¾c. Commission houses, however, soon became active bidders. As a result sentiment quickly changed to bullishness, offerings being light after the moderate selling pressure at the opening. The advance started with a report from a Chicago crop expert who wired that yields of winter in southern Illinois would be very small, ranging from 6 to 15 bushels an acre, that the heads of the grain was not filling out properly, and that while the quality of early-sown was satisfactory, much of the late wheat was blighted. Advices were received claiming that heavy rains in Kansas and Oklahoma had done considerable damage. The weather bureau reports indicated clear skies in the northwest, but a private dispatch to a commission house here stated that rain had fallen throughout the Red river valley and in South Dakota. Allegations of damage by rust were renewed, the fields of Western Minnesota being reported chiefly affected. Newspaper talk was not all of a bullish tenor. The weekly report of the weather bureau claimed that spring wheat was making favorable progress, and that harvesting of winter wheat was rapidly advancing northward. Bearish advices, however, were practically ignored. Late in the session the market was given additional strength by an estimate on the wheat crop of France. According to an English expert, the total yield will be about 280,000,000 bushels. These figures suggested probability that France would have to import from America 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels. During the last hour of trading, shorts were extremely active bidders, but the demand continued to meet with meager offerings. For July the highest point of the day was reached at 89¼@89⅝c. The market closed almost at the top, final quotations on July being up 1¾@1¾c at 89⅛c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 5,577 bushels. The world's visible supply decreased 1,705,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 243,000 bushels, compared with 279,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 180 cars, against 202 cars last week and 217 cars a year ago.

Sentiment in the corn pit was decidedly bullish throughout the entire session. Several prominent longs were active buyers, and shorts followed the lead. A comparative scarcity of offerings was a feature of trading. Factors that contributed to the bullishness were reduced local stocks, light acceptances and a good shipping demand. Market closed at the highest point of the day. July opened unchanged to a shade higher at 53⅛c to 53¼@53⅜c, sold up to 54½c and closed at the top. Local receipts were 746 cars, with 213 of contract grade.

Strength of wheat and corn had a bullish effect on the oats market. The volume of trading was small. July opened ⅛c lower at 30¼c, sold up to 31⅛c, and closed at the highest point. Local receipts were 183 cars.

Provisions were easier on extremely liberal receipts of hogs. At the close September pork was off 12½@15c at $12.62½@12.65. Lard was down 2½@5c at $7.40@7.42½. Ribs were 7½c lower at $7.75@7.87½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, none; corn, 329 cars; oats, 57 cars; hogs, 38,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., Farmers Bank building, Pittsburgh, members of Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

FINANCIAL AND TRADE NOTES.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $485,875; government receipts from internal revenue, $564,000; customs, $723,801; miscellaneous, $47,476; expenditures, $1,360,000.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Special.)—A representative of the United States Steel Corporation says that this will be one of the best, if not the best, years, from the standpoint of exports in the history of the export department of the company. Exports of wire products in particular are heavy, and many classes of steel, exports of which were nominal in 1904, are now reaching large proportions.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The directors of the Corn Products Company today passed the dividend on the preferred stock. This stock has paid 7 per cent annually from the company's organization in 1902 till January last, when the rate was reduced to 4 per cent. The common stock, which had been on a 4 per cent basis from 1902 to February, 1904, has paid no dividends since the latter period.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, June 20.—Money was plentiful in the market today following the release of Japanese government disbursements and there was no special demand for supplies. Discounts were weak in anticipation that the Bank of England will show the week's gold arrivals, amounting to about £2,000,000. The operations on the stock exchange were mostly unimportant. Stocks were not materially boosted by the improved monetary outlook though later there was generally a better tendency. The public was apathetic. Consols declined. Americans opened steady, improved in many instances to a fraction above parity, became inactive and closed quiet. Consols for money, 84 1-16; consols for account, 84⅛, par silver steady, 29¾ per ounce. Money, 1@1½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 1 13-16@1 per cent.

PARIS, June 20.—Prices on the bourse today opened steady, but became heavy. Later there was a steady improvement owing to the belief that the Moroccan situation had improved. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 93 francs 25 centimes. Russian bonds of 1904 at 100. Three per cents, 96 francs 87½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 12 centimes for checks.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Special cash redemption of checks drawn by depositories of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle mints, today's official receipts show that the subtreasury paid out yesterday $74,849. Of this amount $27,000 had been deposited at San Francisco and $1,849 at Seattle. Total thus paid since Friday, $97,119, against $1,000,000 the entire previous week. TRAFFIC MEN TO HOLD MEETINGS

Those Responsible for Freight Transportation Have Three Gatherings Scheduled.

ELECTRIC LINE CUTTING RATES

Three important traffic meetings are scheduled for next week in which Pittsburgh freight traffic men are particularly interested. The division freight agents of the Pennsylvania railroad, who usually hold a monthly meeting at the company's headquarters in Philadelphia, will, on invitation of Traffic Manager R. B. Cooke of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk railroad, hold a meeting at Richmond and Norfolk, Va., June 26 to 28. The Union line agents east and west of Pittsburgh will gather in Pittsburgh for a meeting June 29 and 30. The fifth annual meeting of the freight traffic department of the Norfolk & Western system will be held at Norfolk next Tuesday and Wednesday, June 27 and 28.

In all of these meetings the officials of the Pennsylvania system are interested, for all are allied interests. At each of the meetings topics of import to traffic men will be discussed and an opportunity for exchange of personal experiences will be given. Owing to the absence of Division Freight Agent S. L. Seymour of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, who is now at Carlsbad, the only representative from Pittsburgh at the Richmond-Norfolk meeting will be Division Freight Agent George D. Ogden of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad. The Norfolk & Western meeting will be attended by Commercial Agent S. S. Bridgers, who represents the company in this territory. Inasmuch as the two bodies of traffic men will be gathered at Norfolk on Tuesday it is probable that a joint meeting may be held. One of the features of the former's session at Norfolk will be a steamer ride.

The meeting of the Union line agents in Pittsburgh is the first joint session held for more than a decade. All of the agents, numbering more than 100 men and including the eastern and western managers and superintendents, the district freight solicitors and some of the freight solicitors, will hold their session at the Hotel Schenley. The meeting is to be held here because of the auditing offices being here, John T. Denniston being the auditor. The Union line is the principal fast freight line of the Pennsylvania system and is operated with connections from coast to coast.

After the Union lines meeting concludes the representatives will be taken in a special train over the Pennsylvania system's Pittsburgh terminal lines.

Promotion for B. & O. Man.

John S. Mallette, who has been engaged in surveys for the Baltimore & Ohio in the vicinity of Morgantown for some time, has been appointed resident manager for the company, with headquarters at Hazelwood, this city. He succeeds C. H. Quimby, Jr., who resigned to accept a position with the New York, Westchester & Boston Electric railway, which is building a modern electric road from New York to Boston. This is the same road with which E. L. Crider, also formerly resident engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio, is now working. Mr. Mallette will report directly to Assistant Engineer Paul Didier of Allegheny, who has charge of the Baltimore & Ohio construction work over the Pittsburgh system.

While no official circulars have been issued, it is known that H. M. Matthews has been promoted from division freight agent and coal and coke agent at Pittsburgh to general coal and coke agent of the company, with headquarters in Baltimore, succeeding the late J. A. Murray. This change was predicted in The Gazette soon after the death of Mr. Murray. It is expected that Mr. Matthews will formally assume charge of his new office July 1, when his successor in Pittsburgh will be named. It has not been decided whether the two Pittsburgh offices will be continued jointly or will be divided. The duties of the combined offices have proved very onerous. Mr. Matthews' legion of friends will resolve in the fact of his appointment. He started in the freight department of the Burlington, being general agent of that road in Pittsburgh in 1891, when he was appointed commercial freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, and a year later was advanced to division freight agent.

Electric Cutting Through Rates.

Pittsburgh representatives of railroad passenger departments have found a new phase in electric line competition. Heretofore there has been noticeable only a competition for business on the shorter hauls. It is now found that the Lake Shore Electric railway, in connection with the Toledo, St. Louis & Southwestern, or "Clover Leaf Route," has cut the rate between Cleveland and St. Louis from the straight rate of $15.10 to $10.75. The electric line makes use of a coupon and issues an exchange order to the Clover Leaf. So far the railroad agents have found that only second-class business is affected, there being no difference in the first-class travel. The passenger representatives have raised the question whether the cutting of rates by the two lines and operating an interstate business may not be contrary to the interstate regulations. They seem to think that it is a matter for the interstate commerce commission to investigate. The Lake Shore Electric, it is said, has filed no tariffs for the interstate business.

Pittsburghers on the Lakes.

L. D. Kitchell, district passenger agent of the Great Northern railway, announced yesterday that the company's handsome steamers, Northwest and Northland, will start from Buffalo today with a large number of passengers from Pittsburgh. These steamers operate between Buffalo, Duluth and Chicago and have proved an attraction for summer vacationists, either for the round trip ride or for those going to the far northwest by way of Duluth. Some of the Pittsburghers who will go from Duluth to Yellowstone National park and others to the Lewis & Clarke exposition. Mr. Kitchell says that inquiries regarding the exposition are pouring into his office in large numbers from in and about Pittsburgh. A large number of persons has been booked.

New P. & L. E. Roundhouse.

Beaver Falls has become such an important point on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad because of the increase of accommodation trains which have their northern terminal there that extensive improvements are in contemplation for the betterment of conditions. Bids are being received at the engineering department of the company for the erection of an eight-stall roundhouse at College, a portion of Beaver Falls. The bids will close tomorrow. The superstructure of the roundhouse is to be of steel. The opening of a roundhouse at that point will tend to better both passenger and freight conditions. The company has a good-sized terminal yard at College. The building of the roundhouse will necessitate changes in the yard.

Honors for Railway Club.

The Railway club of Pittsburgh carried off highest honors in two respects at the annual convention of the Society of Railway Clubs of the United States and Canada, held at Brighton Beach. The club's secretary, John D. Conway, chief clerk of the motive power department of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was elected chairman of the international organization, and the club, through its special committee, recommended more important changes in the Master Car Builders' rules than any other club in America. The latter honors came directly from the convention of the Master Car Builders' association. Ten suggestions for alterations in the Master Car Builders' rules were made.
